THEY TOLD ME

They told me Pan was dead, but I
Oft marvelled who it was that sang
Down the green valleys languidly
Where the grey elder-thickets hang.

Sometimes I thought it was a bird
My soul had charged with sorcery;
Sometimes it seemed my own heart heard
Inland the sorrow of the sea.

But even where the primrose sets
The seal of her pale loveliness,
I found amid the violets
Tears of an antique bitterness.

SORCERY

"What voice is that I hear
Crying across the pool?"
"It is the voice of Pan you hear,
Crying his sorceries shrill and clear,
In the twilight dim and cool."

"What song is it he sings,
Echoing from afar;
While the sweet swallow bends her wings,
Filling the air with twitterings,
Beneath the brightening star?"

The woodman answered me,
His faggot on his back:--
"Seek not the face of Pan to see;
Flee from his clear note summoning thee
To darkness deep and black!"

"He dwells in thickest shade,
Piping his notes forlorn
Of sorrow never to be allayed;
Turn from his coverts sad
Of twilight unto morn!"

The woodman passed away
Along the forest path;
His ax shone keen and grey
In the last beams of day:
And all was still as death:--

Only Pan singing sweet
Out of Earth's fragrant shade;
I dreamed his eyes to meet,

And found but shadow laid
Before my tired feet.

Comes no more dawn to me,
Nor bird of open skies.
Only his woods' deep gloom I see
Till, at the end of all, shall rise,
Afar and tranquilly,
Death's stretching sea.

THE CHILDREN OF STARE

Winter is fallen early
On the house of Stare;
Birds in reverberating flocks
Haunt its ancestral box;
Bright are the plenteous berries
In clusters in the air.

Still is the fountain's music,
The dark pool icy still,
Whereupon a small and sanguine sun
Floats in a mirror on,
Into a West of crimson,
From a South of daffodil.

'Tis strange to see young children
In such a wintry house;
Like rabbits' on the frozen snow
Their tell-tale footprints go;
Their laughter rings like timbrels
'Neath evening ominous:

Their small and heightened faces
Like wine-red winter buds;
Their frolic bodies gentle as
Flakes in the air that pass,
Frail as the twirling petal
From the briar of the woods.

Above them silence lours,
Still as an arctic sea;
Light fails; night falls; the wintry moon
Glitters; the crocus soon
Will ope grey and distracted
On earth's austerity:

Thick mystery, wild peril,
Law like an iron rod:--
Yet sport they on in Spring's attire,
Each with his tiny fire
Blown to a core of ardour

By the awful breath of God.

AGE

This ugly old crone--
 Every beauty she had
 When a maid, when a maid.
 Her beautiful eyes,
 Too youthful, too wise,
 Seemed ever to come
 To so lightless a home,
 Cold and dull as a stone.
 And her cheeks--who would guess
 Cheeks cadaverous as this
 Once with colours were gay
 As the flower on its spray?
 Who would ever believe
 Aught could bring one to grieve
 So much as to make
 Lips bent for love's sake
 So thin and so grey?
 O Youth, come away!
 As she asks in her lone,
 This old, desolate crone.
 She loves us no more;
 She is too old to care
 For the charms that of yore
 Made her body so fair.
 Past repining, past care,
 She lives but to bear
 One or two fleeting years
 Earth's indifference: her tears
 Have lost now their heat;
 Her hands and her feet
 Now shake but to be
 Shed as leaves from a tree;
 And her poor heart beats on
 Like a sea--the storm gone.

THE GLIMPSE

Art thou asleep? or have thy wings
 Wearied of my unchanging skies?
 Or, haply, is it fading dreams

Are in my eyes?

Not even an echo in my heart
 Tells me the courts thy feet trod last,
 Bare as a leafless wood it is,

The summer past.

My inmost mind is like a book
 The reader dulls with lassitude,
 Wherein the same old lovely words

Sound poor and rude.

Yet through this vapid surface, I
 Seem to see old-time deeps; I see,
 Past the dark painting of the hour,

Life's ecstasy.

Only a moment; as when day
 Is set, and in the shade of night,
 Through all the clouds that compassed her,

Stoops into sight

Pale, changeless, everlasting Dian,
 Gleams on the prone Endymion,
 Troubles the dulness of his dreams:

And then is gone.

REMEMBRANCE

The sky was like a waterdrop
 In shadow of a thorn,
 Clear, tranquil, beautiful,
 Dark, forlorn.

Lightning along its margin ran;
 A rumour of the sea
 Rose in profundity and sank
 Into infinity.

Lofty and few the elms, the stars
 In the vast boughs most bright;
 I stood a dreamer in a dream
 In the unstirring night.

Not wonder, worship, not even peace
 Seemed in my heart to be:
 Only the memory of one,
 Of all most dead to me.

TREACHERY

She had amid her ringlets bound
 Green leaves to rival their dark hue;
 How could such locks with beauty bound

Dry up their dew,
Wither them through and through?

She had within her dark eyes lit
Sweet fires to burn all doubt away;
Yet did those fires, in darkness lit,

Burn but a day,
Not even till twilight stay.

She had within a dusk of words
A vow in simple splendour set;
How, in the memory of such words,

Could she forget
That vow--the soul of it?

IN VAIN

I knocked upon thy door ajar,
While yet the woods with buds were grey;
Nought but a little child I heard

Warbling at break of day.

I knocked when June had lured her rose
To mask the sharpness of its thorn;
Knocked yet again, heard only yet

Thee singing of the morn.

The frail convolvulus had wreathed
Its cup, but the faint flush of eve
Lingered upon thy Western wall;

Thou hadst no word to give.

Once yet I came; the winter stars
Above thy house wheeled wildly bright;
Footsore I stood before thy door--

Wide open into night.

THE MIRACLE

Who beckons the green ivy up
Its solitary tower of stone?
What spirit lures the bindweed's cup

Unflinching on?
Calls even the starry lichen to climb
By age-long inches endless Time?

Who bids the hollyhock uplift
 Her rod of fast-sealed buds on high;
 Fling wide her petals--silent, swift,

Lovely to the sky?
 Since as she kindled, so she will fade,
 Flower above flower in squalor laid.

Ever the heavy billow rears
 All its sea-length in green, hushed wall;
 But totters as the shore it nears,

Foams to its fall;
 Where was its mark? on what vain quest
 Rose that great water from its rest?

So creeps ambition on; so climb
 Man's vaunting thoughts. He, set on high,
 Forgets his birth, small space, brief time,

That he shall die;
 Dreams blindly in his dark, still air;
 Consumes his strength; strips himself bare;

Rejects delight, ease, pleasure, hope,
 Seeking in vain, but seeking yet,
 Past earthly promise, earthly scope,

On one aim set:
 As if, like Chaucer's child, he thought
 All but "O Alma!" nought.

KEEP INNOCENCY

Like an old battle, youth is wild
 With bugle and spear, and counter cry,
 Fanfare and drummery, yet a child
 Dreaming of that sweet chivalry,
 The piercing terror cannot see.

He, with a mild and serious eye
 Along the azure of the years,
 Sees the sweet pomp sweep hurtling by;
 But he sees not death's blood and tears,
 Sees not the plunging of the spears.

And all the strident horror of
 Horse and rider, in red defeat,
 Is only music fine enough
 To lull him into slumber sweet
 In fields where ewe and lambkin bleat.

O, if with such simplicity
 Himself take arms and suffer war;
 With beams his targe shall gilded be,
 Though in the thickening gloom be far
 The steadfast light of any star!

Though hoarse War's eagle on him perch,
 Quickened with guilty lightnings--there
 It shall in vain for terror search,
 Where a child's eyes beneath bloody hair
 Gaze purely through the dingy air.

And when the wheeling rout is spent,
 Though in the heaps of slain he lie;
 Or lonely in his last content;
 Quenchless shall burn in secrecy
 The flame Death knows his victors by.

THE PHANTOM

Wilt thou never come again,
 Beauteous one?
 Yet the woods are green and dim,
 Yet the birds' deluding cry
 Echoes in the hollow sky,
 Yet the falling waters brim
 The clear pool which thou wast fain
 To paint thy lovely cheek upon,

Beauteous one!

I may see the thorny rose

Stir and wake
 The dark dewdrop on her gold;
 But thy secret will she keep
 Half-divulged--yet all untold,
 Since a child's heart woke from sleep.

The faltering sunbeam fades and goes;
 The night-bird whistles in the brake;

The willows quake;
 Utter darkness walls; the wind

Sighs no more.
 Yet it seems the silence yearns
 But to catch thy fleeting foot;
 Yet the wandering glowworm burns
 Lest her lamp should light thee not--
 Thee whom I shall never find;
 Though thy shadow lean before,

Thou thyself return'st no more--

Never more.

All the world's woods, tree o'er tree,

Come to nought.

Birds, flowers, beasts, how transient they,

Angels of a flying day.

Love is quenched; dreams drown in sleep;

Ruin nods along the deep:

Only thou immortally

Hauntest on

This poor earth in Time's flux caught;

Hauntest on, pursued, unwon,

Phantom child of memory,

Beauteous one!

VOICES

Who is it calling by the darkened river

Where the moss lies smooth and deep,

And the dark trees lean unmoving arms,

Silent and vague in sleep,

And the bright-heeled constellations pass

In splendour through the gloom;

Who is it calling o'er the darkened river

In music, "Come!"?

Who is it wandering in the summer meadows

Where the children stoop and play

In the green faint-scented flowers, spinning

The guileless hours away?

Who touches their bright hair? who puts

A wind-shell to each cheek,

Whispering betwixt its breathing silences,

"Seek! seek!"?

Who is it watching in the gathering twilight

When the curfew bird hath flown

On eager wings, from song to silence,

To its darkened nest alone?

Who takes for brightening eyes the stars,

For locks the still moonbeam,

Sighs through the dews of evening peacefully

Falling, "Dream!"?

THULE

If thou art sweet as they are sad
 Who on the shores of Time's salt sea
 Watch on the dim horizon fade
 Ships bearing love to night and thee;

If past all beacons Hope hath lit
 In the dark wanderings of the deep
 They who unwilling traverse it
 Dream not till dawn unseal their sleep;

Ah, cease not in thy winds to mock
 Us, who yet wake, but cannot see
 Thy distant shores; who at each shock
 Of the waves' onset faint for thee!

THE BIRTHNIGHT: TO F.

Dearest, it was a night
 That in its darkness rocked Orion's stars;
 A sighing wind ran faintly white
 Along the willows, and the cedar boughs
 Laid their wide hands in stealthy peace across
 The starry silence of their antique moss:
 No sound save rushing air
 Cold, yet all sweet with Spring,
 And in thy mother's arms, couched weeping there,

Thou, lovely thing.

THE DEATH-DREAM

Who, now, put dreams into thy slumbering mind?
 Who, with bright Fear's lean taper, crossed a hand
 Athwart its beam, and stooping, truth malign'd,
 Spake so thy spirit speech should understand,
 And with a dread "He's dead!" awaked a peal
 Of frenzied bells along the vacant ways
 Of thy poor earthly heart; waked thee to steal,
 Like dawn distraught upon unhappy days,
 To prove nought, nothing? Was it Time's large voice
 Out of the inscrutable future whispered so?
 Or but the horror of a little noise
 Earth wakes at dead of night? Or does Love know
 When his sweet wings weary and droop, and even
 In sleep cries audibly a shrill remorse?
 Or, haply, was it I who out of dream
 Stole but a little where shadows course,
 Called back to thee across the eternal stream?

"WHERE IS THY VICTORY?"

None, none can tell where I shall be
 When the unclean earth covers me;
 Only in surety if thou cry
 Where my perplexed ashes lie,
 Know, 'tis but death's necessity
 That keeps my tongue from answering thee.

Even if no more my shadow may
 Lean for a moment in thy day;
 No more the whole earth lighten, as if,
 Thou near, it had nought else to give:
 Surely 'tis but Heaven's strategy
 To prove death immortality.

Yet should I sleep--and no more dream,
 Sad would the last awakening seem,
 If my cold heart, with love once hot,
 Had thee in sleep remembered not:
 How could I wake to find that I
 Had slept alone, yet easefully?

Or should in sleep glad visions come:
 Sick, in an alien land, for home
 Would be my eyes in their bright beam;
 Awake, we know 'tis not a dream;
 Asleep, some devil in the mind
 Might truest thoughts with false enwind.

Life is a mockery if death
 Have the least power men say it hath.
 As to a hound that mewing waits,
 Death opens, and shuts to, his gates;
 Else even dry bones might rise and say,--
 "'Tis ye are dead and laid away."

Innocent children out of nought
 Build up a universe of thought,
 And out of silence fashion Heaven:
 So, dear, is this poor dying even,
 Seeing thou shall be touched, heard, seen,
 Better than when dust stood between.

FOREBODING

Thou canst not see him standing by--
 Time--with a popped hand
 Stealing thy youth's simplicity,
 Even as falls unceasingly

His waning sand.

He will pluck thy childish roses, as

Summer from her bush
 Strips all the loveliness that was;
 Even to the silence evening has

Thy laughter hush.

Thy locks too faint for earthly gold,

The meekness of thine eyes,
 He will darken and dim, and to his fold
 Drive, 'gainst the night, thy stainless, old

Innocencies;

Thy simple words confuse and mar,

Thy tenderest thoughts delude,
 Draw a long cloud athwart thy star,
 Still with loud timbrels heaven's far

Faint interlude.

Thou canst not see; I see, dearest;

O, then, yet patient be,
 Though love refuse thy heart all rest,
 Though even love wax angry, lest

Love should lose thee?

VAIN FINDING

Ever before my face there went
 Betwixt earth's buds and me
 A beauty beyond earth's content,
 A hope--half memory:
 Till in the woods one evening--
 Ah! eyes as dark as they,
 Fastened on mine unwontedly,
 Grey, and dear heart, how grey!

NAPOLEON

"What is the world, O soldiers?

It is I:

I, this incessant snow,
 This northern sky;
 Soldiers, this solitude
 Through which we go

Is I."

ENGLAND

No lovelier hills than thine have laid
 My tired thoughts to rest:
 No peace of lovelier valleys made
 Like peace within my breast.

Thine are the woods whereto my soul,
 Out of the noontide beam,
 Flees for a refuge green and cool
 And tranquil as a dream.

Thy breaking seas like trumpets peal;
 Thy clouds--how oft have I
 Watched their bright towers of silence steal
 Into infinity!

My heart within me faults to roam
 In thought even far from thee:
 Thine be the grave whereto I come,
 And thine my darkness be.

TRUCE

Far inland here Death's pinions mocked the roar

Of English seas;
 We sleep to wake no more,

Hushed, and at ease;
 Till sound a trump, shore on to echoing shore,
 Rouse from a peace, unwonted then to war,

Us and our enemies.

EVENING

When twilight darkens, and one by one,
 The sweet birds to their nests have gone;
 When to green banks the glow-worms bring
 Pale lamps to brighten evening;
 Then stirs in his thick sleep the owl
 Through the dewy air to prowl.

Hawking the meadows swiftly he flits,
 While the small mouse atrembling sits
 With tiny eye of fear upcast
 Until his brooding shape be past,
 Hiding her where the moonbeams beat,
 Casting black shadows in the wheat.

Now all is still: the field-man is

Lapped deep in slumbering silentness.
 Not a leaf stirs, but clouds on high
 Pass in dim flocks across the sky,
 Puffed by a breeze too light to move
 Aught but these wakeful sheep above.

O what an arch of light now spans
 These fields by night no longer Man's!
 Their ancient Master is abroad,
 Walking beneath the moonlight cold:
 His presence is the stillness, He
 Fills earth with wonder and mystery.

NIGHT

All from the light of the sweet moon

Tired men lie now abed;
 Actionless, full of visions, soon

Vanishing, soon sped.

The starry night aflock with beams

Of crystal light scarce stirs:
 Only its birds--the cocks, the streams,

Call 'neath heaven's wanderers.

All silent; all hearts still;

Love, cunning, fire fallen low:
 When faint morn straying on the hill

Sighs, and his soft airs flow.

THE UNIVERSE

I heard a little child beneath the stars

Talk as he ran along
 To some sweet riddle in his mind that seemed

A-tiptoe into song.

In his dark eyes lay a wild universe,--

Wild forests, peaks, and crests;
 Angels and fairies, giants, wolves and he

Were that world's only guests.

Elsewhere was home and mother, his warm bed:--

Now, only God alone
 Could, armed with all His power and wisdom, make

Earths richer than his own.

O Man!--thy dreams, thy passions, hopes, desires!--

He in his pity keep
 A homely bed where love may lull a child's

Fond Universe asleep!

GLORIA MUNDI

Upon a bank, easeless with knobs of gold,
 Beneath a canopy of noonday smoke,
 I saw a measureless Beast, morose and bold,
 With eyes like one from filthy dreams awoke,
 Who stares upon the daylight in despair
 For very terror of the nothing there.

This beast in one flat hand clutched vulture-wise
 A glittering image of itself in jet,
 And with the other groped about its eyes
 To drive away the dreams that pestered it;
 And never ceased its coils to toss and beat
 The mire encumbering its feeble feet.

Sharp was its hunger, though continually
 It seemed a cud of stones to ruminate,
 And often like a dog let glittering lie
 This meatless fare, its foolish gaze to sate;
 Once more convulsively to stoop its jaw,
 Or seize the morsel with an envious paw.

Indeed, it seemed a hidden enemy
 Must lurk within the clouds above that bank,
 It strained so wildly its pale, stubborn eye,
 To pierce its own foul vapours dim and dank;
 Till, wearied out, it raved in wrath and foam,
 Daring that Nought Invisible to come.

Ay, and it seemed some strange delight to find
 In this unmeaning din, till, suddenly,
 As if it heard a rumour on the wind,
 Or far away its freer children cry,
 Lifting its face made-quiet, there it stayed,
 Till died the echo its own rage had made.

That place alone was barren where it lay;

Flowers bloomed beyond, utterly sweet and fair;
 And even its own dull heart might think to stay
 In livelong thirst of a clear river there,
 Flowing from unseen hills to unheard seas,
 Through a still vale of yew and almond trees.

And then I spied in the lush green below
 Its tortured belly, One, like silver, pale,
 With fingers closed upon a rope of straw,
 That bound the Beast, squat neck to hoary tail;
 Lonely in all that verdure faint and deep,
 He watched the monster as a shepherd sheep.

I marvelled at the power, strength, and rage
 Of this poor creature in such slavery bound;
 Tettered with worms of fear; forlorn with age;
 Its blue wing-stumps stretched helpless on the ground;
 While twilight faded into darkness deep,
 And he who watched it piped its pangs asleep.

IDLENESS

I saw old Idleness, fat, with great cheeks
 Puffed to the huge circumference of a sigh,
 But past all tinge of apples long ago.
 His boyish fingers twiddled up and down
 The filthy remnant of a cup of physic
 That thicked in odour all the while he stayed.
 His eyes were sad as fishes that swim up
 And stare upon an element not theirs
 Through a thin skin of shrewish water, then
 Turn on a languid fin, and dip down, down,
 Into unplumbed, vast, oozy deeps of dream.
 His stomach was his master, and proclaimed it;
 And never were such meagre puppets made
 The slaves of such a tyrant, as his thoughts
 Of that obese epitome of ills.
 Trussed up he sat, the mockery of himself;
 And when upon the wan green of his eye
 I marked the gathering lustre of a tear,
 Thought I myself must weep, until I caught
 A grey, smug smile of satisfaction smirch
 His pallid features at his misery.
 And laugh did I, to see the little snares
 He had set for pests to vex him: his great feet
 Prisoned in greater boots; so narrow a stool
 To seat such elephantine parts as his;
 Ay, and the book he read, a Hebrew Bible;
 And, to incite a gross and backward wit,
 An old, crabbed, wormed, Greek dictionary; and
 A foxy Ovid bound in dappled calf.

GOLIATH

Still as a mountain with dark pines and sun
 He stood between the armies, and his shout
 Rolled from the empyrean above the host:
 "Bid any little flea ye have come forth,
 And wince at death upon my finger-nail!"
 He turned his large-boned face; and all his steel
 Tossed into beams the lustre of the noon;
 And all the shaggy horror of his locks
 Rustled like locusts in a field of corn.
 The meagre pupil of his shameless eye
 Moved like a cormorant over a glassy sea.
 He stretched his limbs, and laughed into the air,
 To feel the groaning sinews of his breast,
 And the long gush of his swollen arteries pause:
 And, nodding, wheeled, towering in all his height.
 Then, like a wind that hushes, gazed and saw
 Down, down, far down upon the untroubled green
 A shepherd-boy that swung a little sling.
 Goliath shut his lids to drive that mote,
 Which vexed the eastern azure of his eye,
 Out of his vision; and stared down again.
 Yet stood the youth there, ruddy in the flare
 Of his vast shield, nor spake, nor quailed, gazed up,
 As one might scan a mountain to be scaled.
 Then, as it were, a voice unearthly still
 Cried in the cavern of his bristling ear,
 "His name is Death!" ... And, like the flush
 That dyes Sahara to its lifeless verge,
 His brows' bright brass flamed into sudden crimson;
 And his great spear leapt upward, lightning-like,
 Shaking a dreadful thunder in the air;
 Spun betwixt earth and sky, bright as a berg
 That hoards the sunlight in a myriad spires,
 Crashed: and struck echo through an army's heart.
 Then paused Goliath, and stared down again.
 And fleet-foot Fear from rolling orbs perceived
 Steadfast, unharmed, a stooping shepherd-boy
 Frowning upon the target of his face.
 And wrath tossed suddenly up once more his hand;
 And a deep groan grieved all his strength in him.
 He breathed; and, lost in dazzling darkness, prayed--
 Besought his reins, his gloating gods, his youth:
 And turned to smite what he no more could see.
 Then sped the singing pebble-messenger,
 The chosen of the Lord from Israel's brooks,
 Fleet to its mark, and hollowed a light path
 Down to the appalling Babel of his brain.
 And like the smoke of dreaming Souffrière
 Dust rose in cloud, spread wide, slow silted down
 Softly all softly on his armour's blaze.

CHARACTERS FROM SHAKESPEARE

FALSTAFF

'Twas in a tavern that with old age stooped
 And leaned rheumatic rafters o'er his head--
 A blowzed, prodigious man, which talked, and stared,
 And rolled, as if with purpose, a small eye
 Like a sweet Cupid in a cask of wine.
 I could not view his fatness for his soul,
 Which peeped like harmless lightnings and was gone;
 As haps to voyagers of the summer air.
 And when he laughed, Time trickled down those beams,
 As in a glass; and when in self-defence
 He puffed that paunch, and wagged that huge, Greek head,
 Nosed like a Punchinello, then it seemed
 An hundred widows swept in his small voice,
 Now tenor, and now bass of drummy war.
 He smiled, compact of loam, this orchard man;
 Mused like a midnight, webbed with moonbeam snares
 Of flitting Love; woke--and a King he stood,
 Whom all the world hath in sheer jest refused
 For helpless laughter's sake. And then, forfend!
 Bacchus and Jove reared vast Olympus there;
 And Pan leaned leering from Promethean eyes.
 "Lord!" sighed his aspect, weeping o'er the jest,
 "What simple mouse brought such a mountain forth?"

MACBETH

Rose, like dim battlements, the hills and reared
 Steep crags into the fading primrose sky;
 But in the desolate valleys fell small rain,
 Mingled with drifting cloud. I saw one come,
 Like the fierce passion of that vacant place,
 His face turned glittering to the evening sky;
 His eyes, like grey despair, fixed satelessly
 On the still, rainy turrets of the storm;
 And all his armour in a haze of blue.
 He held no sword, bare was his hand and clenched,
 As if to hide the inextinguishable blood
 Murder had painted there. And his wild mouth
 Seemed spouting echoes of deluded thoughts.
 Around his head, like vipers all distort,
 His locks shook, heavy-laden, at each stride.
 If fire may burn invisible to the eye;
 O, if despair strive everlastingly;
 Then haunted here the creature of despair,
 Fanning and fanning flame to lick upon
 A soul still childish in a blackened hell.

BANQUO

What dost thou here far from thy native place?
 What piercing influences of heaven have stirred
 Thy heart's last mansion all-corruptible to wake,
 To move, and in the sweets of wine and fire
 Sit tempting madness with unholy eyes?
 Begone, thou shuddering, pale anomaly!
 The dark presses without on yew and thorn;
 Stoops now the owl upon her lonely quest;
 The pomp runs high here, and our beauteous women
 Seek no cold witness--O, let murder cry,
 Too shrill for human ear, only to God.
 Come not in power to wreak so wild a vengeance!
 Thou knowest not now the limit of man's heart;
 He is beyond thy knowledge. Gaze not then,
 Horror enthroned lit with insanest light!

MERCUTIO

Along an avenue of almond-trees
 Came three girls chattering of their sweethearts three.
 And lo! Mercutio, with Byronic ease,
 Out of his philosophic eye cast all
 A mere flowered twig of thought, whereat--
 Three hearts fell still as when an air dies out
 And Venus falters lonely o'er the sea.
 But when within the further mist of bloom
 His step and form were hid, the smooth child Ann
 Said, "La, and what eyes he had!" and Lucy said,
 "How sad a gentleman!" and Katherine,
 "I wonder, now, what mischief he was at."
 And these three also April hid away,
 Leaving the Spring faint with Mercutio.

JULIET'S NURSE

In old-world nursery vacant now of children,
 With posied walls, familiar, fair, demure,
 And facing southward o'er romantic streets,
 Sits yet and gossips winter's dark away
 One gloomy, vast, glossy, and wise, and sly:
 And at her side a cherried country cousin.
 Her tongue claps ever like a ram's sweet bell;
 There's not a name but calls a tale to mind--
 Some marrowy patty of farce or melodram;
 There's not a soldier but hath babes in view;
 There's not on earth what minds not of the midwife:
 "O, widowhood that left me still espoused!"
 Beauty she sighs o'er, and she sighs o'er gold;
 Gold will buy all things, even a sweet husband,
 Else only Heaven is left and--farewell youth!

Yet, strangely, in that money-haunted head,
 The sad, gemmed crucifix and incense blue
 Is childhood once again. Her memory
 Is like an ant-hill which a twig disturbs,
 But twig stilled never. And to see her face,
 Broad with sleek homely beams; her babied hands,
 Ever like 'lighting doves, and her small eyes--
 Blue wells a-twinkle, arch and lewd and pious--
 To darken all sudden into Stygian gloom,
 And paint disaster with uplifted whites,
 Is life's epitome. She prates and prates--
 A waterbrook of words o'er twelve small pebbles.
 And when she dies--some grey, long, summer evening,
 When the bird shouts of childhood through the dusk,
 'Neath night's faint tapers--then her body shall
 Lie stiff with silks of sixty thrifty years.

IAGO

A dark lean face, a narrow, slanting eye,
 Whose deeps of blackness one pale taper's beam
 Haunts with a fitting madness of desire;
 A heart whose cinder at the breath of passion
 Glows to a momentary core of heat
 Almost beyond indifference to endure:
 So parched Iago frets his life away.
 His scorn works ever in a brain whose wit
 This world hath fools too many and gross to seek.
 Ever to live incredibly alone,
 Masked, shivering, deadly, with a simple Moor
 Of idiot gravity, and one pale flower
 Whose chill would quench in everlasting peace
 His soul's unmeasured flame--O paradox!
 Might he but learn the trick!--to wear her heart
 One fragile hour of heedless innocence,
 And then, farewell, and the incessant grave.
 "O fool! O villain!"--'tis the shuttlecock
 Wit never leaves at rest. It is his fate
 To be a needle in a world of hay,
 Where honour is the flattery of the fool;
 Sin, a tame bauble; lies, a tiresome jest;
 Virtue, a silly, whitewashed block of wood
 For words to fell. Ah! but the secret lacking,
 The secret of the child, the bird, the night,
 Faded, flouted, bespattered, in days so far
 Hate cannot bitter them, nor wrath deny;
 Else were this Desdemona.... Why!
 Woman a harlot is, and life a nest
 Fouled by long ages of forked fools. And God--
 Iago deals not with a tale so dull:
 To have made the world! Fie on thee, Artisan!

IMOGEN

Even she too dead! all languor on her brow,
 All mute humanity's last simpleness,--
 And yet the roses in her cheeks unfallen!
 Can death haunt silence with a silver sound?
 Can death, that hushes all music to a close,
 Pluck one sweet wire scarce-audible that trembles,
 As if a little child, called Purity,
 Sang heedlessly on of his dear Imogen?
 Surely if some young flowers of Spring were put Into the tender hollow of her heart,
 'Twould faintly answer, trembling in their petals.
 Poise but a wild bird's feather, it will stir
 On lips that even in silence wear the badge
 Only of truth. Let but a cricket wake,
 And sing of home, and bid her lids unseal
 The unspeakable hospitality of her eyes.
 O childless soul--call once her husband's name!
 And even if indeed from these green hills
 Of England, far, her spirit flits forlorn,
 Back to its youthful mansion it will turn,
 Back to the floods of sorrow these sweet locks
 Yet heavy bear in drops; and Night shall see
 Unwearying as her stars still Imogen,
 Pausing 'twixt death and life on one hushed word.

POLONIUS

There haunts in Time's bare house an active ghost,
 Enamoured of his name, Polonius.
 He moves small fingers much, and all his speech
 Is like a sampler of precisest words,
 Set in the pattern of a simpleton.
 His mirth floats eerily down chill corridors;
 His sigh--it is a sound that loves a keyhole;
 His tenderness a faint court-tarnished thing;
 His wisdom prates as from a wicker cage;
 His very belly is a pompous nought;
 His eye a page that hath forgot his errand.
 Yet in his brain--his spiritual brain--
 Lies hid a child's demure, small, silver whistle
 Which, to his horror, God blows, unawares,
 And sets men staring. It is sad to think,
 Might he but don indeed thin flesh and blood,
 And pace important to Law's inmost room,
 He would see, much marvelling, one immensely wise,
 Named Bacon, who, at sound of his youth's step,
 Would turn and call him Cousin--for the likeness.

OPHELIA

There runs a crisscross pattern of small leaves
 Espalier, in a fading summer air,
 And there Ophelia walks, an azure flower,
 Whom wind, and snowflakes, and the sudden rain
 Of love's wild skies have purified to heaven.
 There is a beauty past all weeping now
 In that sweet, crooked mouth, that vacant smile;
 Only a lonely grey in those mad eyes,
 Which never on earth shall learn their loneliness.
 And when amid startled birds she sings lament,
 Mocking in hope the long voice of the stream,
 It seems her heart's lute hath a broken string.
 Ivy she hath, that to old ruin clings;
 And rosemary, that sees remembrance fade;
 And pansies, deeper than the gloom of dreams;
 But ah! if utterable, would this earth
 Remain the base, unreal thing it is?
 Better be out of sight of peering eyes;
 Out--out of hearing of all-useless words,
 Spoken of tedious tongues in heedless ears.
 And lest, at last, the world should learn heart-secrets;
 Lest that sweet wolf from some dim thicket steal;
 Better the glassy horror of the stream.

HAMLET

Umbrageous cedars murmuring symphonies
 Stoop'd in late twilight o'er dark Denmark's Prince:
 He sat, his eyes companioned with dream--
 Lustrous large eyes that held the world in view
 As some entrancèd child's a puppet show.
 Darkness gave birth to the all-trembling stars,
 And a far roar of long-drawn cataracts,
 Flooding immeasurable night with sound.
 He sat so still, his very thoughts took wing,
 And, lightest Ariels, the stillness haunted
 With midge-like measures; but, at last, even they
 Sank 'neath the influences of his night.
 The sweet dust shed faint perfume in the gloom;
 Through all wild space the stars' bright arrows fell
 On the lone Prince--the troubled son of man--
 On Time's dark waters in unearthly trouble:
 Then, as the roar increased, and one fair tower
 Of cloud took sky and stars with majesty,
 He rose, his face a parchment of old age,
 Sorrow hath scribbled o'er, and o'er, and o'er.

SONNETS

THE HAPPY ENCOUNTER

I saw sweet Poetry turn troubled eyes
 On shaggy Science nosing in the grass,
 For by that way poor Poetry must pass
 On her long pilgrimage to Paradise.
 He snuffled, grunted, squealed; perplexed by flies,
 Parched, weatherworn, and near of sight, alas,
 From peering close where very little was
 In dens secluded from the open skies.

But Poetry in bravery went down,
 And called his name, soft, clear, and fearlessly;
 Stooped low, and stroked his muzzle overgrown;
 Refreshed his drought with dew; wiped pure and free
 His eyes: and lo! laughed loud for joy to see
 In those grey deeps the azure of her own.

APRIL

Come, then, with showers; I love thy cloudy face
 Gilded with splendour of the sunbeam thro'
 The heedless glory of thy locks. I know
 The arch, sweet languor of thy fleeting grace,
 The windy lovebeams of thy dwelling-place,
 Thy dim dells where in azure bluebells blow,
 The brimming rivers where thy lightnings go
 Harmless and full and swift from race to race.

Thou takest all young hearts captive with thine eyes;
 At rumour of thee the tongues of children ring
 Louder than bees; the golden poplars rise
 Like trumps of peace; and birds, on homeward wing,
 Fly mocking echoes shrill along the skies,

SEA-MAGIC

TO R.I.

My heart faints in me for the distant sea.
 The roar of London is the roar of ire
 The lion utters in his old desire
 For Libya out of dim captivity.
 The long bright silver of Cheapside I see,
 Her gilded weathercocks on roof and spire
 Exulting eastward in the western fire;
 All things recall one heart-sick memory:--

Ever the rustle of the advancing foam,
 The surges' desolate thunder, and the cry
 As of some lone babe in the whispering sky;
 Ever I peer into the restless gloom
 To where a ship clad dim and loftily

Looms steadfast in the wonder of her home.

THE MARKET-PLACE

My mind is like a clamorous market-place.
 All day in wind, rain, sun, its babel wells;
 Voice answering to voice in tumult swells.
 Chaffering and laughing, pushing for a place,
 My thoughts haste on, gay, strange, poor, simple, base;
 This one buys dust, and that a bauble sells:
 But none to any scrutiny hints or tells
 The haunting secrets hidden in each sad face.

Dies down the clamour when the dark draws near;
 Strange looms the earth in twilight of the West,
 Lonely with one sweet star serene and clear,
 Dwelling, when all this place is hushed to rest,
 On vacant stall, gold, refuse, worst and best,
 Abandoned utterly in haste and fear.

ANATOMY

By chance my fingers, resting on my face,
 Stayed suddenly where in its orbit shone
 The lamp of all things beautiful; then on,
 Following more heedfully, did softly trace
 Each arch and prominence and hollow place
 That shall revealed be when all else is gone--
 Warmth, colour, roundness--to oblivion,
 And nothing left but darkness and disgrace.

Life like a moment passed seemed then to be;
 A transient dream this raiment that it wore;
 While spelled my hand out its mortality
 Made certain all that had seemed doubt before:
 Proved--O how vaguely, yet how lucidly!--
 How much death does; and yet can do no more.

EVEN IN THE GRAVE

I laid my inventory at the hand
 Of Death, who in his gloomy arbour sate;
 And while he conned it, sweet and desolate
 I heard Love singing in that quiet land.
 He read the record even to the end--
 The heedless, livelong injuries of Fate,
 The burden of foe, the burden of love and hate;
 The wounds of foe, the bitter wounds of friend:

All, all, he read, ay, even the indifference,
 The vain talk, vainer silence, hope and dream.
 He questioned me: "What seek'st thou then instead?"

I bowed my face in the pale evening gleam.
 Then gazed he on me with strange innocence:
 "Even in the grave thou wilt have thyself," he said.

BRIGHT LIFE

"Come now," I said, "put off these webs of death,
 Distract this leaden yearning of thine eyes
 From lichened banks of peace, sad mysteries
 Of dust fallen-in where passed the flitting breath:
 Turn thy sick thoughts from him that slumbereth
 In mouldered linen to the living skies,
 The sun's bright-clouded principalities,
 The salt deliciousness the sea-breeze hath!

"Lay thy warm hand on earth's cold clods and think
 What exquisite greenness sprouts from these to grace
 The moving fields of summer; on the brink
 Of archèd waves the sea-horizon trace,
 Whence wheels night's galaxy; and in silence sink
 The pride in rapture of life's dwelling-place!"

HUMANITY

"Ever exulting in thyself, on fire
 To flaunt the purple of the Universe,
 To strut and strut, and thy great part rehearse;
 Ever the slave of every proud desire;
 Come now a little down where sports thy sire;
 Choose thy small better from thy abounding worse;
 Prove thou thy lordship who hadst dust for nurse,
 And for thy swaddling the primeval mire!"

Then stooped our Manhood nearer, deep and still,
 As from earth's mountains an unvoyaged sea,
 Hushed my faint voice in its great peace until
 It seemed but a bird's cry in eternity;
 And in its future loomed the undreamable,
 And in its past slept simple men like me.

VIRTUE

Her breast is cold; her hands how faint and wan!
 And the deep wonder of her starry eyes
 Seemingly lost in cloudless Paradise,
 And all earth's sorrow out of memory gone.
 Yet sings her clear voice unrelenting on
 Of loveliest impossibilities;
 Though echo only answer her with sighs
 Of effort wasted and delights foregone.

Spent, baffled, 'wildered, hated and despised,

Her stragglng warriors hasten to defeat;
 By wounds distracted, and by night surprised,
 Fall where death's darkness and oblivion meet:
 Yet, yet: O breast how cold! O hope how far!
 Grant my son's ashes lie where these men's are!

MEMORIES OF CHILDHOOD

REVERIE

Bring not bright candles, for his eyes
 In twilight have sweet company;
 Bring not bright candles, else they fly--
 His phantoms fly--
 Gazing aggrieved on thee!

Bring not bright candles, startle not
 The phantoms of a vacant room,
 Flocking above a child that dreams--
 Deep, deep in dreams,--
 Hid, in the gathering gloom!

Bring not bright candles to those eyes
 That between earth and stars descry,
 Lovelier for the shadows there,
 Children of air,
 Palaces in the sky!

THE MASSACRE

The shadow of a poplar tree
 Lay in that lake of sun,
 As I with my little sword went in--
 Against a thousand, one.

Haughty and infinitely armed,
 Insolent in their wrath,
 Plumed high with purple plumes they held
 The narrow meadow path.

The air was sultry; all was still;
 The sun like flashing glass;
 And snip-snap my light-whispering steel
 In arcs of light did pass.

Lightly and dull fell each proud head,
 Spiked keen without avail,
 Till swam my uncontented blade
 With ichor green and pale.

And silence fell: the rushing sun
 Stood still in paths of heat,

Gazing in waves of horror on
The dead about my feet.

Never a whir of wing, no bee
Stirred o'er the shameful slain;
Nought but a thirsty wasp crept in,
Stooped, and came out again.

The very air trembled in fear;
Eclipsing shadow seemed
Rising in crimson waves of gloom--
On one who dreamed.

ECHO

"Who called?" I said, and the words
Through the whispering glades,
Hither, thither, baffled the birds--
"Who called? Who called?"

The leafy boughs on high
Hissed in the sun;
The dark air carried my cry
Faintly on:

Eyes in the green, in the shade,
In the motionless brake,
Voices that said what I said,
For mockery's sake:

"Who cares?" I bawled through my tears;
The wind fell low:
In the silence, "Who cares? who cares?"
Wailed to and fro.

FEAR

I know where lurk
The eyes of Fear;
I, I alone,
Where shadowy-clear,
Watching for me,
Lurks Fear.

'Tis ever still
And dark, despite
All singing and
All candlelight,
'Tis ever cold,
And night.

He touches me;

Says quietly,
 "Stir not, nor whisper,
 I am nigh;
 Walk noiseless on,
 I am by!"

He drives me
 As a dog a sheep;
 Like a cold stone
 I cannot weep.
 He lifts me
 Hot from sleep

In marble hands
 To where on high
 The jewelled horror
 Of his eye
 Dares me to struggle
 Or cry.

No breast wherein
 To chase away
 That watchful shape!
 Vain, vain to say
 "Haunt not with night
 The Day!"

THE MERMAIDS

Sand, sand; hills of sand;
 And the wind where nothing is
 Green and sweet of the land;
 No grass, no trees,
 No bird, no butterfly,
 But hills, hills of sand,
 And a burning sky.

Sea, sea, mounds of the sea,
 Hollow, and dark, and blue,
 Flashing incessantly
 The whole sea through;
 No flower, no jutting root,
 Only the floor of the sea,
 With foam afloat.

Blow, blow, winding shells;
 And the watery fish,
 Deaf to the hidden bells,
 In the water splash;
 No streaming gold, no eyes,
 Watching along the waves,
 But far-blown shells, faint bells,

From the darkling caves.

MYSELF

There is a garden, grey
 With mists of autumntide;
 Under the giant boughs,
 Stretched green on every side,

Along the lonely paths,
 A little child like me,
 With face, with hands, like mine,
 Plays ever silently;

On, on, quite silently,
 When I am there alone,
 Turns not his head; lifts not his eyes;
 Heeds not as he plays on.

After the birds are flown
 From singing in the trees,
 When all is grey, all silent,
 Voices, and winds, and bees;

And I am there alone:
 Forlornly, silently,
 Plays in the evening garden
 Myself with me.

AUTUMN

There is a wind where the rose was;
 Cold rain where sweet grass was;
 And clouds like sheep
 Stream o'er the steep
 Grey skies where the lark was.

Nought gold where your hair was;
 Nought warm where your hand was;
 But phantom, forlorn,
 Beneath the thorn,
 Your ghost where your face was.

Sad winds where your voice was;
 Tears, tears where my heart was;
 And ever with me,
 Child, ever with me,
 Silence where hope was.

WINTER

Green Mistletoe!

Oh, I remember now
 A dell of snow,
 Frost on the bough;
 None there but I:
 Snow, snow, and a wintry sky.

None there but I,
 And footprints one by one,
 Zigzaggedly,
 Where I had run;
 Where shrill and powdery
 A robin sat in the tree.

And he whistled sweet;
 And I in the crusted snow
 With snow-clubbed feet
 Jigged to and fro,
 Till, from the day,
 The rose-light ebbed away.

And the robin flew
 Into the air, the air,
 The white mist through;
 And small and rare
 The night-frost fell
 In the calm and misty dell.

And the dusk gathered low,
 And the silver moon and stars
 On the frozen snow
 Drew taper bars,
 Kindled winking fires
 In the hooded briers.

And the sprawling Bear
 Growled deep in the sky;
 And Orion's hair
 Streamed sparkling by:
 But the North sighed low,
 "Snow, snow, more snow!"

ENVOI

---

TO MY MOTHER

Thine is my all, how little when 'tis told

Beside thy gold!
 Thine the first peace, and mine the livelong strife;
 Thine the clear dawn, and mine the night of life;

Thine the unstained belief,
Darkened in grief.

Scarce even a flower but thine its beauty and name,

Dimmed, yet the same;
Never in twilight comes the moon to me,
Stealing thro' those far woods, but tells of thee,

Falls, dear, on my wild heart,
And takes thy part.

Thou art the child, and I--how steeped in age!

From that clear, little book life's taken away:
How could I read it, dear, so dark the day?

Be it all memory
'Twixt thee and me!

THE LISTENERS: 1914

THE THREE CHERRY TREES

There were three cherry trees once,
Grew in a garden all shady;
And there for delight of so gladsome a sight,
Walked a most beautiful lady,
Dreamed a most beautiful lady.

Birds in those branches did sing,
Blackbird and throstle and linnet,
But she walking there was by far the most fair--
Lovelier than all else within it,
Blackbird and throstle and linnet.

But blossoms to berries do come,
All hanging on stalks light and slender,
And one long summer's day charmed that lady away,
With vows sweet and merry and tender;
A lover with voice low and tender.

Moss and lichen the green branches deck;
Weeds nod in its paths green and shady:
Yet a light footstep seems there to wander in dreams,
The ghost of that beautiful lady,
That happy and beautiful lady.

OLD SUSAN

When Susan's work was done, she would sit,
 With one fat guttering candle lit,
 And window opened wide to win
 The sweet night air to enter in.
 There, with a thumb to keep her place,
 She would read, with stern and wrinkled face,
 Her mild eyes gliding very slow
 Across the letters to and fro,
 While wagged the guttering candle flame
 In the wind that through the window came.
 And sometimes in the silence she
 Would mumble a sentence audibly,
 Or shake her head as if to say,
 "You silly souls, to act this way!"
 And never a sound from night I would hear,
 Unless some far-off cock crowed clear;
 Or her old shuffling thumb should turn
 Another page; and rapt and stern,
 Through her great glasses bent on me,
 She would glance into reality;
 And shake her round old silvery head,
 With--"You!--I thought you was in bed!"--
 Only to tilt her book again,
 And rooted in Romance remain.

OLD BEN

Sad is old Ben Tristlewaite,
 Now his day is done,
 And all his children
 Far away are gone.

He sits beneath his jasmined porch,
 His stick between his knees,
 His eyes fixed vacant
 On his moss-grown trees.

Grass springs in the green path,
 His flowers are lean and dry,
 His thatch hangs in wisps against
 The evening sky.

He has no heart to care now,
 Though the winds will blow
 Whistling in his casement,
 And the rain drip through.

He thinks of his old Bettie,
 How she'd shake her head and say,
 "You'll live to wish my sharp old tongue
 Could scold--some day."

But as in pale high autumn skies
 The swallows float and play,
 His restless thoughts pass to and fro,
 But nowhere stay.

Soft, on the morrow, they are gone;
 His garden then will be
 Denser and shadier and greener,
 Greener the moss-grown tree.

MISS LOO

When thin-strewn memory I look through,
 I see most clearly poor Miss Loo,
 Her tabby cat, her cage of birds,
 Her nose, her hair, her muffled words,
 And how she would open her green eyes,
 As if in some immense surprise,
 Whenever as we sat at tea
 She made some small remark to me.

'Tis always drowsy summer when
 From out the past she comes again;
 The westering sunshine in a pool
 Floats in her parlour still and cool;
 While the slim bird its lean wires shakes,
 As into piercing song it breaks;
 Till Peter's pale-green eyes ajar
 Dream, wake; wake, dream, in one brief bar.
 And I am sitting, dull and shy,
 And she with gaze of vacancy,

And large hands folded on the tray,
 Musing the afternoon away;
 Her satin bosom heaving slow
 With sighs that softly ebb and flow.
 And her plain face in such dismay,
 It seems unkind to look her way:
 Until all cheerful back will come
 Her gentle gleaming spirit home:
 And one would think that poor Miss Loo
 Asked nothing else, if she had you.

THE TAILOR

Few footsteps stray when dusk droops o'er
 The tailor's old stone-lintelled door.
 There sits he stitching half asleep,
 Beside his smoky tallow dip.
 "Click, click," his needle hastes, and shrill
 Cries back the cricket beneath the sill.
 Sometimes he stays, and over his thread

Leans sidelong his old tousled head;
 Or stoops to peer with half-shut eye
 When some strange footfall echoes by;
 Till clearer gleams his candle's spark
 Into the dusty summer dark.
 Then from his crosslegs he gets down,
 To find how dark the evening is grown;
 And hunched-up in his door he will hear
 The cricket whistling crisp and clear;
 And so beneath the starry grey
 Will mutter half a seam away.

MARTHA

"Once ... once upon a time ..."
 Over and over again,
 Martha would tell us her stories,
 In the hazel glen.

Hers were those clear grey eyes
 You watch, and the story seems
 Told by their beautifulness
 Tranquil as dreams.

She would sit with her two slim hands
 Clasped round her bended knees;
 While we on our elbows lolled,
 And stared at ease.

Her voice and her narrow chin,
 Her grave small lovely head,
 Seemed half the meaning
 Of the words she said.

"Once ... once upon a time ..."
 Like a dream you dream in the night,
 Fairies and gnomes stole out
 In the leaf-green light.

And her beauty far away
 Would fade, as her voice ran on,
 Till hazel and summer sun
 And all were gone:

All fordone and forgot;
 And like clouds in the height of the sky,
 Our hearts stood still in the hush
 Of an age gone by.

THE SLEEPER

As Ann came in one summer's day,

She felt that she must creep,
 So silent was the clear cool house,
 It seemed a house of sleep.
 And sure, when she pushed open the door,
 Rapt in the stillness there,
 Her mother sat, with stooping head,
 Asleep upon a chair;
 Fast--fast asleep; her two hands laid
 Loose-folded on her knee,
 So that her small unconscious face
 Looked half unreal to be:
 So calmly lit with sleep's pale light
 Each feature was; so fair
 Her forehead--every trouble was
 Smoothed out beneath her hair.
 But though her mind in dream now moved,
 Still seemed her gaze to rest--
 From out beneath her fast-sealed lids,
 Above her moving breast--
 On Ann; as quite, quite still she stood;
 Yet slumber lay so deep
 Even her hands upon her lap
 Seemed saturate with sleep.
 And as Ann peeped, a cloudlike dread
 Stole over her, and then,
 On stealthy, mouselike feet she trod,
 And tiptoed out again.

THE KEYS OF MORNING

While at her bedroom window once,
 Learning her task for school,
 Little Louisa lonely sat
 In the morning clear and cool,
 She slanted her small bead-brown eyes
 Across the empty street,
 And saw Death softly watching her
 In the sunshine pale and sweet.

His was a long lean sallow face;
 He sat with half-shut eyes,
 Like an old sailor in a ship
 Becalmed 'neath tropic skies.
 Beside him in the dust he had set
 His staff and shady hat;
 These, peeping small, Louisa saw
 Quite clearly where she sat--

The thinness of his coal-black locks,
 His hands so long and lean
 They scarcely seemed to grasp at all
 The keys that hung between:

Both were of gold, but one was small,
 And with this last did he
 Wag in the air, as if to say,
 "Come hither, child, to me!"

Louisa laid her lesson book
 On the cold window-sill;
 And in the sleepy sunshine house
 Went softly down, until
 She stood in the half-opened door,
 And peeped. But strange to say,
 Where Death just now had sunning sat
 Only a shadow lay:
 Just the tall chimney's round-topped cowl,
 And the small sun behind,
 Had with its shadow in the dust
 Called sleepy Death to mind.
 But most she thought how strange it was
 Two keys that he should bear,
 And that, when beckoning, he should wag
 The littlest in the air.

RACHEL

Rachel sings sweet--
 Oh yes, at night,
 Her pale face bent
 In the candle-light,
 Her slim hands touch
 The answering keys,
 And she sings of hope
 And of memories:
 Sings to the little
 Boy that stands
 Watching those slim,
 Light, heedful hands.
 He looks in her face;
 Her dark eyes seem
 Dark with a beautiful
 Distant dream;
 And still she plays,
 Sings tenderly
 To him of hope,
 And of memory.

ALONE

A very old woman
 Lives in yon house.
 The squeak of the cricket,
 The stir of the mouse,
 Are all she knows

Of the earth and us.

Once she was young,
 Would dance and play,
 Like many another
 Young popinjay;
 And run to her mother
 At dusk of day.

And colours bright
 She delighted in;
 The fiddle to hear,
 And to lift her chin,
 And sing as small
 As a twittering wren.

But age apace
 Comes at last to all;
 And a lone house filled
 With the cricket's call;
 And the scampering mouse
 In the hollow wall.

THE BELLS

Shadow and light both strove to be
 The eight bell-ringers' company,
 As with his gliding rope in hand,
 Counting his changes, each did stand;
 While rang and trembled every stone,
 To music by the bell-mouths blown:
 Till the bright clouds that towered on high
 Seemed to re-echo cry with cry.
 Still swang the clappers to and fro,
 When, in the far-spread fields below,
 I saw a ploughman with his team
 Lift to the bells and fix on them
 His distant eyes, as if he would
 Drink in the utmost sound he could;
 While near him sat his children three,
 And in the green grass placidly
 Played undistracted on, as if
 What music earthly bells might give
 Could only faintly stir their dream,
 And stillness make more lovely seem.
 Soon night hid horses, children, all
 In sleep deep and ambrosial.
 Yet, yet, it seemed, from star to star,
 Welling now near, now faint and far,
 Those echoing bells rang on in dream,
 And stillness made even lovelier seem.

THE SCARECROW

All winter through I bow my head
 Beneath the driving rain;
 The North Wind powders me with snow
 And blows me back again;
 At midnight 'neath a maze of stars
 I flame with glittering rime,
 And stand, above the stubble, stiff
 As mail at morning-prime.
 But when that child, called Spring, and all
 His host of children, come,
 Scattering their buds and dew upon
 These acres of my home,
 Some rapture in my rags awakes;
 I lift void eyes and scan
 The skies for crows, those ravening foes,
 Of my strange master, Man.
 I watch him striding lank behind
 His clashing team, and know
 Soon will the wheat swish body high
 Where once lay sterile snow;
 Soon shall I gaze across a sea
 Of sun-begotten grain,
 Which my unflinching watch hath sealed
 For harvest once again.

NOD

Softly along the road of evening,
 In a twilight dim with rose,
 Wrinkled with age, and drenched with dew,
 Old Nod, the shepherd, goes.

His drowsy flock streams on before him,
 Their fleeces charged with gold,
 To where the sun's last beam leans low
 On Nod the shepherd's fold.

The hedge is quick and green with brier,
 From their sand the conies creep;
 And all the birds that fly in heaven
 Flock singing home to sleep.

His lambs outnumber a noon's roses,
 Yet, when night's shadows fall,
 His blind old sheep-dog, Slumber-soon,
 Misses not one of all.

His are the quiet steeps of dreamland,
 The waters of no-more-pain,
 His ram's bell rings 'neath an arch of stars,

"Rest, rest, and rest again."

THE BINDWEED

The bindweed roots pierce down
 Deeper than men do lie,
 Laid in their dark-shut graves
 Their slumbering kinsmen by.

Yet what frail thin-spun flowers
 She casts into the air,
 To breathe the sunshine, and
 To leave her fragrance there.

But when the sweet moon comes,
 Showering her silver down,
 Half-wreathèd in faint sleep,
 They droop where they have blown.

So all the grass is set,
 Beneath her trembling ray,
 With buds that have been flowers,
 Brimmed with reflected day.

WINTER

Clouded with snow
 The cold winds blow,
 And shrill on leafless bough
 The robin with its burning breast
 Alone sings now.

The rayless sun,
 Day's journey done,
 Sheds its last ebbing light
 On fields in leagues of beauty spread
 Unearthly white.

Thick draws the dark,
 And spark by spark,
 The frost-fires kindle, and soon
 Over that sea of frozen foam
 Floats the white moon.

THERE BLOOMS NO BUD IN MAY

There blooms no bud in May
 Can for its white compare
 With snow at break of day,
 On fields forlorn and bare.

For shadow it hath rose,

Azure, and amethyst;
 And every air that blows
 Dies out in beauteous mist.

It hangs the frozen bough
 With flowers on which the night
 Wheeling her darkness through
 Scatters a starry light.

Fearful of its pale glare
 In flocks the starlings rise;
 Slide through the frosty air,
 And perch with plaintive cries.

Only the inky rook,
 Hunched cold in ruffled wings,
 Its snowy nest forsook,
 Caws of unnumbered Springs.

NOON AND NIGHT FLOWER

Not any flower that blows
 But shining watch doth keep;
 Every swift changing chequered hour it knows
 Now to break forth in beauty; now to sleep.

This for the roving bee
 Keeps open house, and this
 Stainless and clear is, that in darkness she
 May lure the moth to where her nectar is.

Lovely beyond the rest
 Are these of all delight:--
 The tiny pimpernel that noon loves best,
 The primrose palely burning through the night.

One 'neath day's burning sky
 With ruby decks her place,
 The other when Eve's chariot glideth by
 Lifts her dim torch to light that dreaming face.

ESTRANGED

No one was with me there--
 Happy I was--alone;
 Yet from the sunshine suddenly

A joy was gone.

A bird in an empty house
 Sad echoes makes to ring,
 Flitting from room to room

On restless wing:

Till from its shades he flies,
And leaves forlorn and dim
The narrow solitudes

So strange to him.

So, when with fickle heart
I joyed in the passing day,
A presence my mood estranged

Went grieved away.

THE TIRED CUPID

The thin moonlight with trickling ray,
Thridding the boughs of silver may,
Trembles in beauty, pale and cool,
On folded flower, and mantled pool.
All in a haze the rushes lean--
And he--he sits, with chin between
His two cold hands; his bare feet set
Deep in the grasses, green and wet.
About his head a hundred rings
Of gold loop down to meet his wings,
Whose feathers, arched their stillness through,
Gleam with slow-gathering drops of dew.
The mouse-bat peers; the stealthy vole
Creeps from the covert of its hole;
A shimmering moth its pinions furls,
Grey in the moonshine of his curls;
'Neath the faint stars the night-airs stray,
Scattering the fragrance of the may;
And with each stirring of the bough
Shadow beclouds his childlike brow.

DREAMS

Be gentle, O hands of a child;
Be true: like a shadowy sea
In the starry darkness of night

Are your eyes to me.

But words are shallow, and soon
Dreams fade that the heart once knew;
And youth fades out in the mind,

In the dark eyes too.

What can a tired heart say,

Which the wise of the world have made dumb?
Save to the lonely dreams of a child,

"Return again, come!"

FAITHLESS

The words you said grow faint;
The lamps you lit burn dim;
Yet, still be near your faithless friend
To urge and counsel him.

Still with returning feet
To where life's shadows brood,
With steadfast eyes made clear in death
Haunt his vague solitude.

So he, beguiled with earth,
Yet with its vain things vexed,
Keep even to his own heart unknown
Your memory unperplexed.

THE SHADE

Darker than night; and oh, much darker she,
Whose eyes in deep night darkness gaze on me.
No stars surround her; yet the moon seems hid
Afar somewhere, beneath that narrow lid.
She darkens against the darkness; and her face
Only by adding thought to thought I trace,
Limned shadowily: O dream, return once more
To gloomy Hades and the whispering shore!

BE ANGRY NOW NO MORE

Be angry now no more!
If I have grieved thee--if
Thy kindness, mine before,
No hope may now restore:
Only forgive, forgive!

If still resentment burns
In thy cold breast, oh if
No more to pity turns,
No more, once tender, yearns
Thy love; oh yet forgive!...

Ask of the winter rain
June's withered rose again:
Ask grace of the salt sea:
She will not answer thee.
God would ten times have shriven

A heart so riven;
 In her cold care thou would'st be
 Still unforgiven.

EXILE

Had the gods loved me I had lain
 Where danel is, and thorn,
 And the wild night-bird's nightlong strain
 Trembles in boughs forlorn.

Nay, but they loved me not; and I
 Must needs a stranger be,
 Whose every exiled day gone by
 Aches with their memory.

WHERE?

Where is my love--
 In silence and shadow she lies,
 Under the April-grey, calm waste of the skies;

And a bird above,
 In the darkness tender and clear,
 Keeps saying over and over, Love lies here!

Not that she's dead;
 Only her soul is flown
 Out of its last pure earthly mansion;

And cries instead
 In the darkness, tender and clear,
 Like the voice of a bird in the leaves, Love--

Love lies here.

MUSIC UNHEARD

Sweet sounds, begone--
 Whose music on my ear
 Stirs foolish discontent
 Or lingering here;
 When, if I crossed
 The crystal verge of death,
 Him I should see.
 Who these sounds murmureth.

Sweet sounds, begone--
 Ask not my heart to break
 Its bond of bravery for
 Sweet quiet's sake;
 Lure not my feet

To leave the path they must
Tread on, unfaltering,
Till I sleep in dust.

Sweet sounds, begone!
Though silence brings apace
Deadly disquiet
Of this homeless place;
And all I love
In beauty cries to me,
"We but vain shadows
And reflections be."

ALL THAT'S PAST

Very old are the woods;
And the buds that break
Out of the brier's boughs,
When March winds wake,
So old with their beauty are--
Oh, no man knows
Through what wild centuries
Roves back the rose.

Very old are the brooks;
And the rills that rise
Where snow sleeps cold beneath
The azure skies
Sing such a history
Of come and gone,
Their every drop is as wise
As Solomon.

Very old are we men;
Our dreams are tales
Told in dim Eden
By Eve's nightingales;
We wake and whisper awhile,
But, the day gone by,
Silence and sleep like fields
Of amaranth lie.

WHEN THE ROSE IS FADED

When the rose is faded,
Memory may still dwell on
Her beauty shadowed,
And the sweet smell gone.

That vanishing loveliness,
That burdening breath
No bond of life hath then

Nor grief of death.

'Tis the immortal thought
Whose passion still
Makes of the changing
The unchangeable.

Oh, thus thy beauty,
Loveliest on earth to me,
Dark with no sorrow, shines
And burns, with Thee.

SLEEP

Men all, and birds, and creeping beasts,
When the dark of night is deep,
From the moving wonder of their lives
Commit themselves to sleep.

Without a thought, or fear, they shut
The narrow gates of sense;
Heedless and quiet, in slumber turn
Their strength to impotence.

The transient strangeness of the earth
Their spirits no more see:
Within a silent gloom withdrawn,
They slumber in secrecy.

Two worlds they have--a globe forgot
Wheeling from dark to light;
And all the enchanted realm of dream
That burgeons out of night.

THE STRANGER

Half-hidden in a graveyard,
In the blackness of a yew,
Where never living creature stirs,
Nor sunbeam pierces through,

Is a tomb, green and crooked,--
Its faded legend gone,--
With but one rain-worn cherub's head
Of smouldering stone.

There, when the dusk is falling,
Silence broods so deep
It seems that every wind that breathes
Blows from the field of sleep.

Day breaks in heedless beauty,

Kindling each drop of dew,
 But unforsaking shadow dwells
 Beneath this lonely yew.

And, all else lost and faded,
 Only this listening head
 Keeps with a strange unanswering smile
 Its secret with the dead.

NEVER MORE SAILOR

Never more, Sailor,
 Shall thou be
 Tossed on the wind-ridden,
 Restless sea.
 Its tides may labour;
 All the world
 Shake 'neath that weight
 Of waters hurled:
 But its whole shock
 Can only stir
 Thy dust to a quiet
 Even quieter.
 Thou mock'st at land
 Who now art come
 To such a small
 And shallow home;
 Yet bore the sea
 Full many a care
 For bones that once
 A sailor's were.
 And though the grave's
 Deep soundlessness
 Thy once sea-deafened
 Ear distress,
 No robin ever
 On the deep
 Hopped with his song
 To haunt thy sleep.

ARABIA

Far are the shades of Arabia,
 Where the Princes ride at noon,
 'Mid the verdurous vales and thickets,
 Under the ghost of the moon;
 And so dark is that vaulted purple
 Flowers in the forest rise
 And toss into blossom 'gainst the phantom stars
 Pale in the noonday skies.

Sweet is the music of Arabia

In my heart, when out of dreams
 I still in the thin clear mirk of dawn
 Descry her gliding streams;
 Hear her strange lutes on the green banks
 Ring loud with the grief and delight
 Of the dim-silked dark-haired Musicians
 In the brooding silence of night.

They haunt me--her lutes and her forests;
 No beauty on earth I see
 But shadowed with that dreams recalls
 Her loveliness to me:
 Still eyes look coldly upon me,
 Cold voices whisper and say--
 "He is crazed with the spell of far Arabia,
 They have stolen his wits away."

THE MOUNTAINS

Still, and blanched, and cold, and lone,
 The icy hills far off from me
 With frosty ulys overgrown
 Stand in their sculptured secrecy.

No path of theirs the chamois fleet
 Treads, with a nostril to the wind;
 O'er their ice-marbled glaciers beat
 No wings of eagles in my mind--

Yea, in my mind these mountains rise,
 Their perils dyed with evening's rose;
 And still my ghost sits at my eyes
 And thirsts for their untroubled snows.

QUEEN DJENIRA

When Queen Djenira slumbers through
 The sultry noon's repose,
 From out her dreams, as soft she lies,
 A faint thin music flows.

Her lovely hands lie narrow and pale
 With gilded nails, her head
 Couched in its handed nets of gold
 Lies pillowed on her bed.

The little Nubian boys who fan
 Her cheeks and tresses clear,
 Wonderful, wonderful, wonderful voices
 Seem afar to hear.

They slide their eyes, and nodding, say,

"Queen Djenira walks to-day
The courts of the lord Pthamasar
Where the sweet birds of Psuthys are."

And those of earth about her porch
Of shadow cool and grey
Their sidelong beaks in silence lean,
And silent flit away.

NEVER-TO-BE

Down by the waters of the sea
Reigns the King of Never-to-be.
His palace walls are black with night;
His torches star and moon's light,
And for his timepiece deep and grave
Beats on the green unhastening wave.

Windswept are his high corridors;
His pleasance the sea-mantled shores;
For sentinel a shadow stands
With hair in heaven, and cloudy hands;
And round his bed, king's guards to be,
Watch pines in iron solemnity.

His hound is mute; his steed at will
Roams pastures deep with asphodel;
His queen is to her slumber gone;
His courtiers mute lie, hewn in stone;
He hath forgot where he did hide
His sceptre in the mountain-side.

Grey-capped and muttering, mad is he--
The childless King of Never-to-be;
For all his people in the deep
Keep, everlasting, fast asleep;
And all his realm is foam and rain,
Whispering of what comes not again.

THE DARK CHÂTEAU

In dreams a dark château
Stands ever open to me,
In far ravines dream-waters flow,
Descending soundlessly;
Above its peaks the eagle floats,
Lone in a sunless sky;
Mute are the golden woodland throats
Of the birds flitting by.

No voice is audible. The wind
Sleeps in its peace.

No flower of the light can find
 Refuge beneath its trees;
 Only the darkening ivy climbs
 Mingled with wilding rose,
 And cypress, morn and evening, time's
 Black shadow throws.

All vacant, and unknown;
 Only the dreamer steps
 From stone to hollow stone,
 Where the green moss sleeps,
 Peers at the rivers in its deeps,
 The eagle lone in the sky,
 While the dew of evening drips,
 Coldly and silently.

Would that I could steal in!--
 Into each secret room;
 Would that my sleep-bright eyes could win
 To the inner gloom;
 Gaze from its high windows,
 Far down its mouldering walls,
 Where amber-clear still Lethe flows,
 And foaming falls.

But ever as I gaze,
 From slumber soft doth come
 Some touch my stagnant sense to raise
 To its old earthly home;
 Fades then that sky serene;
 And peak of ageless snow;
 Fades to a paling dawn-lit green,
 My dark château.

THE DWELLING-PLACE

Deep in a forest where the kestrel screamed,
 Beside a lake of water, clear as glass,
 The time-worn windows of a stone house gleamed

Named only "Alas."

Yet happy as the wild birds in the glades
 Of that green forest, thridding the still air
 With low continued heedless serenades,

Its heedless people were.

The throbbing chords of violin and lute,
 The lustre of lean tapers in dark eyes,
 Fair colours, beauteous flowers, faint-bloomed fruit

Made earth seem Paradise

To them that dwelt within this lonely house:
Like children of the gods in lasting peace,
They ate, sang, danced, as if each day's carouse

Need never pause, nor cease.

Some to the hunt would wend, with hound and horn,
And clash of silver, beauty, bravery, pride,
Heeding not one who on white horse upborne

With soundless hoofs did ride.

Dreamers there were who watched the hours away
Beside a fountain's foam. And in the sweet
Of phantom evening, 'neath the night-bird's lay,

Did loved with loved-one meet.

All, all were children, for, the long day done,
They barred the heavy door against lightfoot fear;
And few words spake though one known face was gone,

Yet still seemed hovering near.

They heaped the bright fire higher; poured dark wine;
And in long revelry dazed the questioning eye;
Curtained three-fold the heart-dismaying shine

Of midnight streaming by.

They shut the dark out from the painted wall,
With candles dared the shadow at the door,
Sang down the faint reiterated call

Of those who came no more.

Yet clear above that portal plain was writ,
Confronting each at length alone to pass
Out of its beauty into night star-lit,

That word "Alas!"

THE LISTENERS

"Is there anybody there?" said the Traveller,
Knocking on the moonlit door;
And his horse in the silence champed the grasses
Of the forest's ferny floor:
And a bird flew up out of the turret,
Above the Traveller's head:

And he smote upon the door again a second time;
 "Is there anybody there?" he said.
 But no one descended to the Traveller;
 No head from the leaf-fringed sill
 Leaned over and looked into his grey eyes,
 Where he stood perplexed and still.
 But only a host of phantom listeners
 That dwelt in the lone house then
 Stood listening in the quiet of the moonlight
 To that voice from the world of men:
 Stood thronging the faint moonbeams on the dark stair,
 That goes down to the empty hall,
 Harkening in an air stirred and shaken
 By the lonely Traveller's call.
 And he felt in his heart their strangeness,
 Their stillness answering his cry,
 While his horse moved, cropping the dark turf,
 'Neath the starred and leafy sky;
 For he suddenly smote on the door, even
 Louder, and lifted his head:--
 "Tell them I came, and no one answered,
 That I kept my word," he said.
 Never the least stir made the listeners,
 Though every word he spake
 Fell echoing through the shadowiness of the still house
 From the one man left awake:
 Ay, they heard his foot upon the stirrup,
 And the sound of iron on stone,
 And how the silence surged softly backward,
 When the plunging hoofs were gone.

TIME PASSES

There was nought in the Valley
 But a Tower of Ivory,
 Its base enwreathed with red

Flowers that at evening
 Caught the sun's crimson
 As to Ocean low he sped.

Lucent and lovely
 It stood in the morning
 Under a trackless hill;

With snows eternal
 Muffling its summit,
 And silence ineffable.

Sighing of solitude
 Winds from the cold heights
 Haunted its yellowing stone;

At noon its shadow
 Stretched athwart cedars
 Whence every bird was flown.

Its stair was broken,
 Its starlit walls were
 Fretted; its flowers shone

Wide at the portal,
 Full-blown and fading,
 Their last faint fragrance gone.

And on high in its lantern
 A shape of the living
 Watched o'er a shoreless sea,

From a Tower rotting
 With age and weakness,
 Once lovely as ivory.

BEWARE!

An ominous bird sang from its branch,

"Beware, O Wanderer!
 Night 'mid her flowers of glamourie spilled

Draws swiftly near:

"Night with her darkened caravans,

Piled deep with silver and myrrh,
 Draws from the portals of the East,

O Wanderer near."

"Night who walks plumèd through the fields

Of stars that strangely stir--
 Smitten to fire by the sandals of him

Who walks with her."

THE JOURNEY

Heart-sick of his journey was the Wanderer;
 Footsore and parched was he;
 And a Witch who long had lurked by the wayside,
 Looked out of sorcery.

"Lift up your eyes, you lonely Wanderer,"
 She peeped from her casement small;

"Here's shelter and quiet to give you rest, young man,
And apples for thirst withal."

And he looked up out of his sad reverie,
And saw all the woods in green,
With birds that flitted feathered in the dappling,
The jewel-bright leaves between.

And he lifted up his face towards her lattice,
And there, alluring-wise,
Slanting through the silence of the long past,
Dwelt the still green Witch's eyes.

And vaguely from the hiding-place of memory
Voices seemed to cry;
"What is the darkness of one brief life-time
To the deaths thou hast made us die?"

"Heed not the words of the Enchantress
Who would us still betray!"
And sad with the echo of their reproaches,
Doubting, he turned away.

"I may not shelter beneath your roof, lady,
Nor in this wood's green shadow seek repose,
Nor will your apples quench the thirst
A homesick wanderer knows."

"'Homesick' forsooth!" she softly mocked him:
And the beauty in her face
Made in the sunshine pale and trembling
A stillness in that place.

And he sighed, as if in fear, that young Wanderer,
Looking to left and to right,
Where the endless narrow road swept onward,
Till in distance lost to sight.

And there fell upon his sense the brier,
Haunting the air with its breath,
And the faint shrill sweetness of the birds' throats,
Their tent of leaves beneath.

And there was the Witch, in no wise heeding;
Her arbour, and fruit-filled dish,
Her pitcher of well-water, and clear damask--
All that the weary wish.

And the last gold beam across the green world
Faltered and failed, as he Remembered his solitude and the dark night's Inhospitability.

And he looked upon the Witch with eyes of sorrow
 In the darkening of the day;
 And turned him aside into oblivion;
 And the voices died away....

And the Witch stepped down from her casement:
 In the hush of night he heard
 The calling and wailing in dewy thicket
 Of bird to hidden bird.

And gloom stole all her burning crimson,
 Remote and faint in space
 As stars in gathering shadow of the evening
 Seemed now her phantom face.

And one night's rest shall be a myriad,
 Midst dreams that come and go;
 Till heedless fate, unmoved by weakness, bring him
 This same strange by-way through:

To the beauty of earth that fades in ashes,
 The lips of welcome, and the eyes
 More beautiful than the feeble shine of Hesper
 Lone in the lightning skies:

Till once again the Witch's guile entreat him;
 But, worn with wisdom, he
 Steadfast and cold shall choose the dark night's Inhospitability.

HAUNTED

The rabbit in his burrow keeps
 No guarded watch, in peace he sleeps;
 The wolf that howls in challenging night
 Cowers to her lair at morning light;
 The simplest bird entwines a nest
 Where she may lean her lovely breast,
 Couched in the silence of the bough.
 But thou, O man, what rest hast thou?

Thy emptiest solitude can bring
 Only a subtler questioning
 In thy divided heart. Thy bed
 Recalls at dawn what midnight said.
 Seek how thou wilt to feign content,
 Thy flaming ardour's quickly spent;
 Soon thy last company is gone,
 And leaves thee--with thyself--alone.

Pomp and great friends may hem thee round,
 A thousand busy tasks be found;

Earth's thronging beauties may beguile
 Thy longing lovesick heart awhile;
 And pride, like clouds of sunset, spread
 A changing glory round thy head;
 But fade will all; and thou must come,
 Hating thy journey, homeless, home.

Rave how thou wilt; unmoved, remote,
 That inward presence slumbers not,
 Frets out each secret from thy breast,
 Gives thee no rally, pause, nor rest,
 Scans close thy very thoughts, lest they
 Should sap his patient power away,
 Answers thy wrath with peace, thy cry
 With tenderest taciturnity.

SILENCE

With changeful sound life beats upon the ear;
 Yet, striving for release,
 The most seductive string's
 Sweet jargonings,
 The happiest throat's
 Most easeful, lovely notes
 Fall back into a veiling silentness.

Even 'mid the rumour of a moving host,
 Blackening the clear green earth,
 Vainly 'gainst that thin wall
 The trumpets call,
 Or with loud hum
 The smoke-bemuffled drum:
 From that high quietness no reply comes forth.

When, all at peace, two friends at ease alone
 Talk out their hearts,--yet still
 Between the grace-notes of
 The voice of love
 From each to each
 Trembles a rarer speech,
 And with its presence every pause doth fill.

Unmoved it broods, this all-encompassing hush
 Of one who stooping near,
 No smallest stir will make
 Our fear to wake;
 But yet intent
 Upon some mystery bent
 Harkens the lightest word we say, or hear.

WINTER DUSK

Dark frost was in the air without,
 The dusk was still with cold and gloom,
 When less than even a shadow came

And stood within the room.

But of the three around the fire,
 None turned a questioning head to look,
 Still read a clear voice, on and on,

Still stooped they o'er their book.

The children watched their mother's eyes
 Moving on softly line to line;
 It seemed to listen too--that shade,

Yet made no outward sign.

The fire-flames crooned a tiny song,
 No cold wind moved the wintry tree;
 The children both in Faërie dreamed

Beside their mother's knee.

And nearer yet that spirit drew
 Above that heedless one, intent
 Only on what the simple words

Of her small story meant.

No voiceless sorrow grieved her mind,
 No memory her bosom stirred,
 Nor dreamed she, as she read to two,

'Twas surely three who heard.

Yet when, the story done, she smiled
 From face to face, serene and clear,
 A love, half dread, sprang up, as she

Leaned close and drew them near.

THE GHOST

Peace in thy hands,
 Peace in thine eyes,
 Peace on thy brow;
 Flower of a moment in the eternal hour,

Peace with me now.

Not a wave breaks,

Not a bird calls,
 My heart, like a sea,
 Silent after a storm that hath died,

Sleeps within me.

All the night's dews,
 All the world's leaves,
 All winter's snow
 Seem with their quiet to have stilled in life's dream

All sorrowing now.

AN EPITAPH

Here lies a most beautiful lady,
 Light of step and heart was she;
 I think she was the most beautiful lady
 That ever was in the West Country.
 But beauty vanishes; beauty passes;
 However rare--rare it be;
 And when I crumble, who will remember
 This lady of the West Country?

"THE HAWTHORN HATH A DEATHLY SMELL"

The flowers of the field
 Have a sweet smell;
 Meadowsweet, tansy, thyme,
 And faint-heart pimpernel;
 But sweeter even than these,
 The silver of the may
 Wreathed is with incense for
 The Judgment Day.

An apple, a child, dust,
 When falls the evening rain,
 Wild brier's spiced leaves,
 Breathe memories again;
 With further memory fraught,
 The silver of the may
 Wreathed is with incense for
 The Judgment Day.

Eyes of all loveliness--
 Shadow of strange delight,
 Even as a flower fades
 Must thou from sight;
 But oh, o'er thy grave's mound,
 Till come the Judgment Day,
 Wreathed shall with incense be
 Thy sharp-thorned may.

MOTLEY: 1918

THE LITTLE SALAMANDER*TO MARGOT

When I go free,
I think 'twill be
A night of stars and snow,
And the wild fires of frost shall light
My footsteps as I go;
Nobody--nobody will be there
With groping touch, or sight,
To see me in my bush of hair
Dance burning through the night.

THE LINNET

Upon this leafy bush
With thorns and roses in it,
Flutters a thing of light,
A twittering linnet.
And all the throbbing world
Of dew and sun and air
By this small parcel of life
Is made more fair;
As if each bramble-spray
And mounded gold-wreathed furze,
Harebell and little thyme,
Were only hers;
As if this beauty and grace
Did to one bird belong,
And, at a flutter of wing,
Might vanish in song.

THE SUNKEN GARDEN

Speak not--whisper not;
Here bloweth thyme and bergamot;
Softly on the evening hour,
Secret herbs their spices shower.
Dark-spiked rosemary and myrrh,
Lean-stalked, purple lavender;
Hides within her bosom, too,
All her sorrows, bitter rue.

Breathe not--trespass not;
Of this green and darkling spot,
Latticed from the moon's beams,
Perchance a distant dreamer dreams;
Perchance upon its darkening air,

The unseen ghosts of children fare,
Faintly swinging, sway and sweep,
Like lovely sea-flowers in its deep;
While, unmoved, to watch and ward,
Amid its gloomed and daisied sward,
Stands with bowed and dewy head
That one little leaden Lad.

THE RIDDLERS

"Thou solitary!" the Blackbird cried,
"I, from the happy Wren,
Linnet and Blackcap, Woodlark, Thrush,
Perched all upon a sweetbrier bush,
Have come at cold of midnight-tide
To ask thee, Why and when
Grief smote thy heart so thou dost sing
In solemn hush of evening,
So sorrowfully, lovelorn Thing--
Nay, nay, not sing, but rave, but wail,
Most melancholic Nightingale?
Do not the dews of darkness steep
All pinings of the day in sleep?
Why, then, when rocked in starry nest
We mutely couch, secure, at rest,
Doth thy lone heart delight to make
Music for sorrow's sake?"
A Moon was there. So still her beam,
It seemed the whole world lay in dream,
Lulled by the watery sea.
And from her leafy night-hung nook
Upon this stranger soft did look
The Nightingale: sighed he:--

"'Tis strange, my friend; the Kingfisher
But yestermorn conjured me here
Out of his green and gold to say
Why thou, in splendour of the noon,
Wearest of colour but golden shoon,
And else dost thee array
In a most sombre suit of black?
'Surely,' he sighed, 'some load of grief,
Past all our thinking--and belief--
Must weigh upon his back!'
Do, then, in turn, tell me, If joy
Thy heart as well as voice employ
Why dost thou now most Sable, shine
In plumage woefuller far than mine?
Thy silence is a sadder thing
Than any dirge I sing!"

Thus, then, these two small birds, perched there,

Breathed a strange riddle both did share
 Yet neither could expound.
 And we--who sing but as we can,
 In the small knowledge of a man--
 Have we an answer found?
 Nay, some are happy whose delight
 Is hid even from themselves from sight;
 And some win peace who spend
 The skill of words to sweeten despair
 Of finding consolation where
 Life has but one dark end;
 Who, in rapt solitude, tell o'er
 A tale as lovely as forlore,
 Into the midnight air.

MOONLIGHT

The far moon maketh lovers wise
 In her pale beauty trembling down,
 Lending curved cheeks, dark lips, dark eyes,
 A strangeness not her own.
 And, though they shut their lids to kiss,
 In starless darkness peace to win,
 Even on that secret world from this
 Her twilight enters in.

THE BLIND BOY

"I have no master," said the Blind Boy,
 "My mother, 'Dame Venus' they do call;
 Cowled in this hood she sent me begging
 For whate'er in pity may befall.

"Hard was her visage, me adjuring,--
 'Have no fond mercy on the kind!
 Here be sharp arrows, bunched in quiver,
 Draw close ere striking--thou art blind.'

"So stand I here, my woes entreating,
 In this dark alley, lest the Moon
 Point with her sparkling my barbed armoury
 Shine on my silver-lacèd shoon.

"Oh, sir, unkind this Dame to me-ward;
 Of the salt billow was her birth ...
 In your sweet charity draw nearer
 The saddest rogue on Earth!"

THE QUARRY

You hunted me with all the pack,
 Too blind, too blind, to see

By no wild hope of force or greed
 Could you make sure of me.

And like a phantom through the glades,
 With tender breast aglow,
 The goddess in me laughed to hear
 Your horns a-roving go.

She laughed to think no mortal ever
 By dint of mortal flesh
 The very Cause that was the Hunt
 One moment could enmesh:

That though with captive limbs I lay,
 Stilled breath and vanquished eyes,
 He that hunts Love with horse and hound
 Hunts out his heart and eyes.

MRS. GRUNDY

"Step very softly, sweet Quiet-foot,
 Stumble not, whisper not, smile not:
 By this dark ivy stoop cheek and brow.
 Still even thy heart! What seest thou?..."

"High-coifed, broad-browed, aged, suave yet grim,
 A large flat face, eyes keenly dim,
 Staring at nothing--that's me!--and yet,
 With a hate one could never, no, never forget ..."

"This is my world, my garden, my home,
 Hither my father bade mother to come
 And bear me out of the dark into light,
 And happy I was in her tender sight.

"And then, thou frail flower, she died and went,
 Forgetting my pitiless banishment,
 And that Old Woman--an Aunt--she said,
 Came hither, lodged, fattened, and made her bed.

"Oh yes, thou most blessed, from Monday to Sunday,
 Has lived on me, preyed on me, Mrs. Grundy:
 Called me, 'dear Nephew'; on each of those chairs
 Has gloated in righteousness, heard my prayers.

"Why didst thou dare the thorns of the grove,
 Timidest trespasser, huntress of love?
 Now thou hast peeped, and now dost know
 What kind of creature is thine for foe.

"Not that she'll tear out thy innocent eyes,
 Poison thy mouth with deviltries.

Watch thou, wait thou: soon will begin
 The guile of a voice: hark!..." "Come in, Come in!"

THE TRYST

Flee into some forgotten night and be
 Of all dark long my moon-bright company:
 Beyond the rumour even of Paradise come,
 There, out of all remembrance, make our home:
 Seek we some close hid shadow for our lair,
 Hollowed by Noah's mouse beneath the chair
 Wherein the Omnipotent, in slumber bound,
 Nods till the piteous Trump of Judgment sound.
 Perchance Leviathan of the deep sea
 Would lease a lost mermaid's grot to me,
 There of your beauty we would joyance make--
 A music wistful for the sea-nymph's sake:
 Haply Elijah, o'er his spokes of fire,
 Cresting steep Leo, or the heavenly Lyre,
 Spied, tranced in azure of inanest space,
 Some eyrie hostel, meet for human grace,
 Where two might happy be--just you and I--
 Lost in the uttermost of Eternity.
 Think! In Time's smallest clock's minutest beat
 Might there not rest be found for wandering feet?
 Or, 'twixt the sleep and wake of Helen's dream,
 Silence wherein to sing love's requiem?
 No, no. Nor earth, nor air, nor fire, nor deep
 Could lull poor mortal longingness asleep.
 Somewhere there Nothing is; and there lost Man
 Shall win what changeless vague of peace he can.

ALONE

The abode of the nightingale is bare,
 Flowered frost congeals in the gelid air,
 The fox howls from his frozen lair:

Alas, my loved one is gone,
 I am alone:
 It is winter.

Once the pink cast a winy smell,
 The wild bee hung in the hyacinth bell,
 Light in effulgence of beauty fell:

Alas, my loved one is gone,
 I am alone:
 It is winter.

My candle a silent fire doth shed,
 Starry Orion hunts o'erhead;

Come moth, come shadow, the world is dead:

Alas, my loved one is gone,
I am alone:
It is winter.

THE EMPTY HOUSE

See this house, how dark it is
Beneath its vast-boughed trees!
Not one trembling leaflet cries
To that Watcher in the skies--
"Remove, remove thy searching gaze,
Innocent, of heaven's ways,
Brood not, Moon, so wildly bright,
On secrets hidden from sight."

"Secrets," sighs the night-wind,
"Vacancy is all I find;
Every keyhole I have made
Wails a summons, faint and sad,
No voice ever answers me,

Only vacancy."
"Once, once ..." the cricket shrills,
And far and near the quiet fills
With its tiny voice, and then

Hush falls again.

Mute shadows creeping slow
Mark how the hours go.
Every stone is mouldering slow.
And the least winds that blow
Some minutest atom shake,
Some fretting ruin make
In roof and walls. How black it is
Beneath these thick-boughed trees!

MISTRESS FELL

"Whom seek you here, sweet Mistress Fell?"
"One who loved me passing well.
Dark his eye, wild his face--
Stranger, if in this lonely place
Bide such an one, then, prythee, say
I am come here to-day."

"Many his like, Mistress Fell?"
"I did not look, so cannot tell.
Only this I surely know,
When his voice called me, I must go;

Touched me his fingers, and my heart
Leapt at the sweet pain's smart."

"Why did he leave you, Mistress Fell?"
"Magic laid its dreary spell.--
Stranger, he was fast asleep;
Into his dream I tried to creep;
Called his name, soft was my cry;
He answered--not one sigh.

"The flower and the thorn are here;
Falleth the night-dew, cold and clear;
Out of her bower the bird replies,
Mocking the dark with ecstasies,
See how the earth's green grass doth grow,
Praising what sleeps below!

"Thus have they told me. And I come,
As flies the wounded wild-bird home.
Not tears I give; but all that he
Clasped in his arms, sweet charity;
All that he loved--to him I bring
For a close whispering."

THE GHOST

"Who knocks?" "I, who was beautiful,
Beyond all dreams to restore,
I, from the roots of the dark thorn am hither.
And knock on the door."

"Who speaks?" "I--once was my speech
Sweet as the bird's on the air,
When echo lurks by the waters to heed;
'Tis I speak thee fair."

"Dark is the hour!" "Ay, and cold."
"Lone is my house." "Ah, but mine?"
"Sight, touch, lips, eyes yearned in vain."
"Long dead these to thine ..."

Silence. Still faint on the porch
Brake the flames of the stars.
In gloom groped a hope-wearied hand
Over keys, bolts, and bars.

A face peered. All the grey night
In chaos of vacancy shone;
Nought but vast sorrow was there--
The sweet cheat gone.

THE STRANGER

In the woods as I did walk,
 Dappled with the moon's beam,
 I did with a Stranger talk,
 And his name was Dream.

Spurred his heel, dark his cloak,
 Shady-wide his bonnet's brim;
 His horse beneath a silvery oak
 Grazed as I talked with him.

Softly his breast-brooch burned and shone;
 Hill and deep were in his eyes;
 One of his hands held mine, and one
 The fruit that makes men wise.

Wondrously strange was earth to see,
 Flowers white as milk did gleam;
 Spread to Heaven the Assyrian Tree,
 Over my head with Dream.

Dews were still betwixt us twain;
 Stars a trembling beauty shed;
 Yet--not a whisper comes again
 Of the words he said.

BETRAYAL

She will not die, they say,
 She will but put her beauty by

And hie away.

Oh, but her beauty gone, how lonely
 Then will seem all reverie,

How black to me!

All things will sad be made
 And every hope a memory,

All gladness dead.

Ghosts of the past will know
 My weakest hour, and whisper to me,

And coldly go.

And hers in deep of sleep,
 Clothed in its mortal beauty I shall see,

And, waking, weep.

Naught will my mind then find
In man's false Heaven my peace to be:

All blind, and blind.

THE CAGE

Why did you flutter in vain hope, poor bird,
Hard-pressed in your small cage of clay?
'Twas but a sweet, false echo that you heard,

Caught only a feint of day.

Still is the night all dark, a homeless dark.
Burn yet the unanswering stars. And silence brings
The same sea's desolate surge--sans bound or mark--

Of all your wanderings.

Fret now no more; be still. Those steadfast eyes,
Those folded hands, they cannot set you free;
Only with beauty wake wild memories--
Sorrow for where you are, for where you would be.

THE REVENANT

O all ye fair ladies with your colours and your graces,
And your eyes clear in flame of candle and hearth,
Toward the dark of this old window lift not up your smiling faces, Where a Shade stands forlorn from the cold of the earth.

God knows I could not rest for one I still was thinking of; Like a rose sheathed in beauty her spirit was to me;
Now out of unforgottenness a bitter draught I'm drinking of, 'Tis sad of such beauty unremembered to be.

Men all all shades, O Woman.--Winds wist not of the way they blow. Apart from your kindness, life's at best but a snare.

Though a tongue now past praise this bitter thing doth say, I know What solitude means, and how, homeless, I fare.

Strange, strange, are ye all--except in beauty shared with her-- Since I seek one I loved, yet was faithless to in death.

Not life enough I heaped, so thus my heart must fare with her, Now wrapt in the gross clay, bereft of life's breath.

MUSIC

When music sounds, gone is the earth I know,
And all her lovely things even lovelier grow;
Her flowers in vision flame, her forest trees,
Lift burdened branches, stilled with ecstasies.

When music sounds, out of the water rise

Naiads whose beauty dims my waking eyes,
 Rapt in strange dreams burns each enchanted face,
 With solemn echoing stirs their dwelling-place.

When music sounds, all that I was I am
 Ere to this haunt of brooding dust I came;
 While from Time's woods break into distant song
 The swift-winged hours, as I hasten along.

THE REMONSTRANCE

I was at peace until you came
 And set a careless mind aflame.
 I lived in quiet; cold, content;
 All longing in safe banishment,
 Until your ghostly lips and eyes

Made wisdom unwise.

Naught was in me to tempt your feet
 To seek a lodging. Quite forgot
 Lay the sweet solitude we two
 In childhood used to wander through;
 Time's cold had closed my heart about;

And shut you out.

Well, and what then?... O vision grave,
 Take all the little all I have!
 Strip me of what in voiceless thought
 Life's kept of life, unhop'd, unsought!--
 Reverie and dream that memory must

Hide deep in dust!

This only I say:--Though cold and bare
 The haunted house you have chosen to share,
 Still 'neath its walls the moonbeam goes

And trembles on the untended rose;

Still o'er its broken roof-tree rise
 The starry arches of the skies;
 And in your lightest word shall be

The thunder of an ebbing sea.

NOCTURNE

'Tis not my voice now speaks; but a bird
 In darkling forest hollows a sweet throat--
 Pleads on till distant echo too hath heard

And doubles every note:
So love that shrouded dwells in mystery

Would cry and waken thee.

Thou Solitary, stir in thy still sleep;
All the night waits thee, yet thou still dream'st on.
Furtive the shadows that about thee creep,
And cheat the shining footsteps of the moon:
Unseal thine eyes, it is my heart that sings,

And beats in vain its wings.

Lost in heaven's vague, the stars burn softly through
The world's dark latticings, we prisoned stray
Within its lovely labyrinth, and know

Mute seraphs guard the way
Even from silence unto speech, from love
To that self's self it still is dreaming of.

THE EXILE

I am that Adam who, with Snake for guest,
Hid anguished eyes upon Eve's piteous breast.
I am that Adam who, with broken wings,
Fled from the Seraph's brazen trumpetings.
Betrayed and fugitive, I still must roam
A world where sin, and beauty, whisper of Home.

Oh, from wide circuit, shall at length I see
Pure daybreak lighten again on Eden's tree?
Loosed from remorse and hope and love's distress,
Enrobe me again in my lost nakedness?
No more with wordless grief a loved one grieve,
But to Heaven's nothingness re-welcome Eve?

THE UNCHANGING

After the songless rose of evening,

Night quiet, dark, still,
In nodding cavalcade advancing

Starred the deep hill:
You, in the valley standing,

In your quiet wonder took
All that glamour, peace, and mystery

In one grave look.
Beauty hid your naked body,

Time dreamed in your bright hair,
In your eyes the constellations

Burned far and fair.

INVOCATION

The burning fire shakes in the night,
On high her silver candles gleam,
With far-flung arms enflamed with light,
The trees are lost in dream.

Come in thy beauty! 'tis my love,
Lost in far-wandering desire,
Hath in the darkling deep above
Set stars and kindled fire.

EYES

O strange devices that alone divide
The seër from the seen--
The very highway of earth's pomp and pride
That lies between
The traveller and the cheating, sweet delight
Of where he longs to be,
But which, bound hand and foot, he, close on night,
Can only see.

LIFE

Hearken, O dear, now strikes the hour we die;
We, who in our strange kiss
Have proved a dream the world's realities,
Turned each from other's darkness with a sigh,
Need heed no more of life, waste no more breath
On any other journey, but of death.

And yet: Oh, know we well
How each of us must prove Love's infidel;
Still out of ecstasy turn trembling back
To earth's same empty track
Of leaden day by day, and hour by hour, and be
Of all things lovely the cold mortuary.

THE DISGUISE

Why in my heart, O Grief,
Dost thou in beauty hide?
Dead is my well-content,
And buried deep my pride.
Cold are their stones, beloved,
To hand and side.

The shadows of even are gone,
 Shut are the day's clear flowers,
 Now have her birds left mute
 Their singing bowers,
 Lone shall we be, we twain,
 In the night hours.

Thou with thy cheek on mine,
 And dark hair loosed, shall see
 Take the far stars for fruit
 The cypress tree,
 And in the yew's black
 Shall the moon be.

We will tell no old tales,
 Nor heed if in wandering air
 Die a lost song of love
 Or the once fair;
 Still as well-water be
 The thoughts we share!

And, while the ghosts keep
 Tryst from chill sepulchres,
 Dreamless our gaze shall sleep,
 And sealed our ears;
 Heart unto heart will speak,
 Without tears.

O, thy veiled, lovely face--
 Joy's strange disguise--
 Shall be the last to fade
 From these rapt eyes,
 Ere the first dart of daybreak
 Pierce the skies.

VAIN QUESTIONING

What needest thou?--a few brief hours of rest
 Wherein to seek thyself in thine own breast;
 A transient silence wherein truth could say
 Such was thy constant hope, and this thy way?--

O burden of life that is
 A livelong tangle of perplexities!

What seekest thou?--a truce from that thou art;
 Some steadfast refuge from a fickle heart;
 Still to be thou, and yet no thing of scorn,
 To find no stay here, and yet not forlorn?--

O riddle of life that is
 An endless war 'twixt contrarities.

Leave this vain questioning. Is not sweet the rose?
 Sings not the wild bird ere to rest he goes?
 Hath not in miracle brave June returned?
 Burns not her beauty as of old it burned?

O foolish one to roam
 So far in thine own mind away from home!

Where blooms the flower when her petals fade,
 Where sleepeth echo by earth's music made,
 Where all things transient to the changeless win,
 There waits the peace thy spirit dwelleth in.

VIGIL

Dark is the night,
 The fire burns faint and low,
 Hours--days--years,
 Into grey ashes go;
 I strive to read,
 But sombre is the glow.

Thumbed are the pages,
 And the print is small;
 Mocking the winds
 That from the darkness call;
 Feeble the fire that lends
 Its light withal.

O ghost, draw nearer;
 Let thy shadowy hair,
 Blot out the pages
 That we cannot share;
 Be ours the one last leaf
 By Fate left bare!

Let's Finis scrawl,
 And then Life's book put by;
 Turn each to each
 In all simplicity:
 Ere the last flame is gone
 To warm us by.

THE OLD MEN

Old and alone, sit we,
 Caged, riddle-rid men;
 Lost to Earth's "Listen!" and "See!"
 Thought's "Wherefore?" and "When?"

Only far memories stray
 Of a past once lovely, but now

Wasted and faded away,
Like green leaves from the bough.

Vast broods the silence of night,
The ruinous moon
Lifts on our faces her light,
Whence all dreaming is gone.

We speak not; trembles each head;
In their sockets our eyes are still;
Desire as cold as the dead;
Without wonder or will.
And One, with a lanthorn, draws near,
At clash with the moon in our eyes:
"Where art thou?" he asks: "I am here,"
One by one we arise.

And none lifts a hand to withhold
A friend from the touch of that foe:
Heart cries unto heart, "Thou art old!"
Yet, reluctant, we go.

THE DREAMER

O thou who giving helm and sword,
Gav'st, too, the rusting rain,
And starry dark's all tender dews

To blunt and stain:

Out of the battle I am sped,
Unharm'd, yet stricken sore;
A living shape amid whispering shades

On Lethe's shore.

No trophy in my hands I bring,
To this sad, sighing stream,
The neighings and the trumps and cries

Were but a dream.

Traitor to life, of life betrayed:
O, of thy mercy deep,
A dream my all, the all I ask

Is sleep.

MOTLEY

Come, Death, I'd have a word with thee;
And thou, poor Innocency;

And love--a Lad with broken wing;
 And Pity, too:
 The Fool shall sing to you,
 As Fools will sing.

Ay, music hath small sense,
 And a tune's soon told,
 And Earth is old,
 And my poor wits are dense;
 Yet have I secrets,--dark, my dear,
 To breathe you all: Come near.
 And lest some hideous listener tells,
 I'll ring my bells.

They are all at war!--
 Yes, yes, their bodies go
 'Neath burning sun and icy star
 To chaunted songs of woe,
 Dragging cold cannon through a mire
 Of rain and blood and spouting fire,
 The new moon glinting hard on eyes
 Wide with insanities!

Hush!... I use words
 I hardly know the meaning of;
 And the mute birds
 Are glancing at Love
 From out their shade of leaf and flower,
 Trembling at treacheries
 Which even in noonday cower.
 Heed, heed not what I said
 Of frenzied hosts of men,
 More fools than I,
 On envy, hatred fed,
 Who kill, and die--
 Spake I not plainly, then?
 Yet Pity whispered, "Why?"

Thou silly thing, off to thy daisies go.
 Mine was not news for child to know,
 And Death--no ears hath. He hath supped where creep
 Eyeless worms in hush of sleep;
 Yet, when he smiles, the hand he draws
 Athwart his grinning jaws--
 Faintly the thin bones rattle, and--There, there;
 Harken how my bells in the air
 Drive away care!...

Nay, but a dream I had
 Of a world all mad.
 Not simply happy mad like me,
 Who am mad like an empty scene

Of water and willow tree,
 Where the wind hath been;
 But that foul Satan-mad,
 Who rots in his own head,
 And counts the dead,
 Not honest one--and two--
 But for the ghosts they were,
 Brave, faithful, true,
 When, head in air,
 In Earth's clear green and blue
 Heaven they did share
 With beauty who bade them there ...
 There, now! Death goes--
 Mayhap I've wearied him.
 Ay, and the light doth dim,
 And asleep's the rose,
 And tired Innocence
 In dreams is hence ...
 Come, Love, my lad,
 Nodding that drowsy head,
 'Tis time thy prayers were said!

THE MARIONETTES

Let the foul Scene proceed:
 There's laughter in the wings;
 'Tis sawdust that they bleed,
 But a box Death brings.

How rare a skill is theirs
 These extreme pangs to show,
 How real a frenzy wears
 Each feigner of woe!

Gigantic dins uprise!
 Even the gods must feel
 A smarting of the eyes
 As these fumes upsweal.

Strange, such a Piece is free,
 While we Spectators sit,
 Aghast at its agony,
 Yet absorbed in it!

Dark is the outer air,
 Cold the night draughts blow
 Mutely we stare, and stare
 At the frenzied Show.

Yet heaven hath its quiet shroud
 Of deep, immutable blue--
 We cry "An end!" We are bowed

By the dread, "'Tis true!"

While the Shape who hoofs applause
Behind our deafened ear,
Hoots--angel-wise--"the Cause!"
And affright even fear.

TO E.T.: 1917

You sleep too well--too far away,
For sorrowing word to soothe or wound;
Your very quiet seems to say
How longed-for a peace you have found.

Else, had not death so lured you on,
You would have grieved--'twixt joy and fear--
To know how my small loving son
Had wept for you, my dear.

APRIL MOON

Roses are sweet to smell and see,
And lilies on the stem;
But rarer, stranger buds there be,
And she was like to them.

The little moon that April brings,
More lovely shade than light,
That, setting, silvers lonely hills
Upon the verge of night--

Close to the world of my poor heart
So stole she, still and clear;
Now that she's gone, O dark, and dark,
The solitude, the fear.

THE FOOL'S SONG

Never, no never, listen too long,
To the chattering wind in the willow, the night bird's song.

'Tis sad in sooth to lie under the grass,
But none too gladsome to wake and grow cold where life's shadows pass.

Dumb the old Toll-Woman squats,
And, for every green copper battered and worn, doles out Nevers and Nots.

I know a Blind Man, too,
Who with a sharp ear listens and listens the whole world through.

Oh, sit we snug to our feast,
With platter and finger and spoon--and good victuals at least.

CLEAR EYES

Clear eyes do dim at last,
 And cheeks outlive their rose.
 Time, heedless of the past,
 No loving-kindness knows;
 Chill unto mortal lip

Still Lethe flows.

Griefs, too, but brief while stay,
 And sorrow, being o'er,
 Its salt tears shed away,
 Woundeth the heart no more.
 Stealthily lave those waters

That solemn shore.

Ah, then, sweet face burn on,
 While yet quick memory lives!
 And Sorrow, ere thou art gone,
 Know that my heart forgives--
 Ere yet, grown cold in peace,

It loves not, nor grieves.

DUST TO DUST

Heavenly Archer, bend thy bow;
 Now the flame of life burns low,
 Youth is gone; I, too, would go.

Even Fortune leads to this:
 Harsh or kind, at last she is
 Murderess of all ecstasies.

Yet the spirit, dark, alone,
 Bound in sense, still hearkens on
 For tidings of a bliss foregone.

Sleep is well for dreamless head,
 At no breath astonishèd,
 From the Gardens of the Dead.

I the immortal harps hear ring,
 By Babylon's river languishing.
 Heavenly Archer, loose thy string.

THE THREE STRANGERS

Far are those tranquil hills,
 Dyed with fair evening's rose;

On urgent, secret errand bent,

A traveller goes.

Approach him strangers three,
Barefooted, cowed; their eyes
Scan the lone, hastening solitary

With dumb surmise.

One instant in close speech
With them he doth confer:
God-spiced, he hasteneth on,

That anxious traveller ...

I was that man--in a dream:
And each world's night in vain
I patient wait on sleep to unveil

Those vivid hills again.

Would that they three could know
How yet burns on in me
Love--from one lost in Paradise--

For their grave courtesy.

ALEXANDER

It was the Great Alexander,
Capped with a golden helm,
Sate in the ages, in his floating ship,

In a dead calm.

Voices of sea-maids singing
Wandered across the deep:
The sailors labouring on their oars

Rowed, as in sleep.

All the high pomp of Asia,
Charmed by that siren lay,
Out of their weary and dreaming minds,

Faded away.

Like a bold boy sate their Captain,
His glamour withered and gone,
In the souls of his brooding mariners,

While the song pined on.

Time, like a falling dew,
Life, like the scene of a dream,
Laid between slumber and slumber,

Only did seem....

O Alexander, then,
In all us mortals too,
Wax thou not bold--too bold

On the wave dark-blue!

Come the calm, infinite night,
Who then will hear
Aught save the singing

Of the sea-maids clear?

THE REAWAKENING

Green in light are the hills, and a calm wind flowing
Filleth the void with a flood of the fragrance of Spring; Wings in this mansion of life are coming and going,
Voices of unseen loveliness carol and sing.

Coloured with buds of delight the boughs are swaying,
Beauty walks in the woods, and wherever she rove
Flowers from wintry sleep, her enchantment obeying,
Stir in the deep of her dream, reawaken to love.

Oh, now begone sullen care--this light is my seeing;
I am the palace, and mine are its windows and walls;
Daybreak is come, and life from the darkness of being
Springs, like a child from the womb, when the lonely one calls.

THE VACANT DAY

As I did walk in meadows green
I heard the summer noon resound
With call of myriad things unseen
That leapt and crept upon the ground.

High overhead the windless air
Throbbled with the homesick coursing cry
Of swallows that did everywhere
Wake echo in the sky.

Beside me, too, clear waters coursed
Which willow branches, lapsing low,
Breaking their crystal gliding forced
To sing as they did flow.

I listened; and my heart was dumb
 With praise no language could express;
 Longing in vain for him to come
 Who had breathed such blessedness

On this fair world, wherein we pass
 So chequered and so brief a stay;
 And yearned in spirit to learn, alas,
 What kept him still away.

THE FLIGHT

How do the days press on, and lay
 Their fallen locks at evening down,
 Whileas the stars in darkness play

And moonbeams weave a crown--

A crown of flower-like light in heaven,
 Where in the hollow arch of space
 Morn's mistress dreams, and the Pleiads seven

Stand watch about her place.

Stand watch--O days no number keep
 Of hours when this dark clay is blind.
 When the world's clocks are dumb in sleep

'Tis then I seek my kind.

FOR ALL THE GRIEF

For all the grief I have given with words
 May now a few clear flowers blow,
 In the dust, and the heat, and the silence of birds,

Where the lonely go.

For the thing unsaid that heart asked of me
 Be a dark, cool water calling--calling
 To the footsore, benighted, solitary,

When the shadows are falling.

O, be beauty for all my blindness,
 A moon in the air where the weary wend,
 And dews burdened with loving-kindness

In the dark of the end.

THE SCRIBE

What lovely things
 Thy hand hath made:
 The smooth-plumed bird
 In its emerald shade,
 The seed of the grass,
 The speck of stone
 Which the wayfaring ant
 Stirs--and hastes on!

Though I should sit
 By some tarn in thy hills,
 Using its ink
 As the spirit wills
 To write of Earth's wonders,
 Its live, willed things,
 Flit would the ages
 On soundless wings.
 Ere unto Z
 My pen drew nigh;
 Leviathan told,
 And the honey-fly:
 And still would remain
 My wit to try
 My worn reeds broken,
 The dark tarn dry,
 All words forgotten--
 Thou, Lord, and I.

FARE WELL

When I lie where shades of darkness
 Shall no more assail mine eyes,
 Nor the rain make lamentation

When the wind sighs;
 How will fare the world whose wonder
 Was the very proof of me?
 Memory fades, must the remembered

Perishing be?

Oh, when this my dust surrenders
 Hand, foot, lip, to dust again,
 May these loved and loving faces

Please other men!
 May the rustling harvest hedgerow
 Still the Traveller's Joy entwine,
 And as happy children gather

Posies once mine.

Look thy last on all things lovely,
 Every hour. Let no night
 Seal thy sense in deathly slumber

Till to delight
 Thou have paid thy utmost blessing;
 Since that all things thou wouldst praise
 Beauty took from those who loved them

In other days.

THE FULL PROJECT GUTENBERG LICENSE
 PLEASE READ THIS BEFORE YOU DISTRIBUTE OR USE THIS WORK

To protect the Project Gutenberg-tm mission of promoting the free distribution of electronic works, by using or distributing this work (or any other work associated in any way with the phrase "Project Gutenberg"), you agree to comply with all the terms of the Full Project Gutenberg-tm License (available with this file or online at <http://gutenberg.net/license>).

Section 1. General Terms of Use and Redistributing Project Gutenberg-tm electronic works

1.A. By reading or using any part of this Project Gutenberg-tm electronic work, you indicate that you have read, understand, agree to and accept all the terms of this license and intellectual property (trademark/copyright) agreement. If you do not agree to abide by all the terms of this agreement, you must cease using and return or destroy all copies of Project Gutenberg-tm electronic works in your possession. If you paid a fee for obtaining a copy of or access to a Project Gutenberg-tm electronic work and you do not agree to be bound by the terms of this agreement, you may obtain a refund from the person or entity to whom you paid the fee as set forth in paragraph 1.E.8.

1.B. "Project Gutenberg" is a registered trademark. It may only be used on or associated in any way with an electronic work by people who agree to be bound by the terms of this agreement. There are a few things that you can do with most Project Gutenberg-tm electronic works even without complying with the full terms of this agreement. See paragraph 1.C below. There are a lot of things you can do with Project Gutenberg-tm electronic works if you follow the terms of this agreement and help preserve free future access to Project Gutenberg-tm electronic works. See paragraph 1.E below.

1.C. The Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation ("the Foundation" or PGLAF), owns a compilation copyright in the collection of Project Gutenberg-tm electronic works. Nearly all the individual works in the collection are in the public domain in the United States. If an individual work is in the public domain in the United States and you are located in the United States, we do not claim a right to prevent you from copying, distributing, performing, displaying or creating derivative works based on the work as long as all references to Project Gutenberg are removed. Of course, we hope that you will support the Project Gutenberg-tm mission of promoting free access to electronic works by freely sharing Project Gutenberg-tm works in compliance with the terms of this agreement for keeping the Project Gutenberg-tm name associated with the work. You can easily comply with the terms of this agreement by keeping this work in the same format with its attached full Project Gutenberg-tm License when you share it without charge with others.

1.D. The copyright laws of the place where you are located also govern what you can do with this work. Copyright laws in most countries are in a constant state of change. If you are outside the United States, check the laws of your country in addition to the terms of this agreement before downloading, copying, displaying, performing, distributing or creating derivative works based on this work or any other Project Gutenberg-tm work. The Foundation makes no representations concerning the copyright status of any work in any country outside the United States.

1.E. Unless you have removed all references to Project Gutenberg:

1.E.1. The following sentence, with active links to, or other immediate access to, the full Project Gutenberg-tm License must appear prominently whenever any copy of a Project Gutenberg-tm work (any work on which the phrase "Project Gutenberg" appears, or with which the phrase "Project Gutenberg" is associated) is accessed, displayed, performed, viewed, copied or distributed:

This eBook is for the use of anyone anywhere at no cost and with almost no restrictions whatsoever. You may copy it, give it away or re-use it under the terms of the Project Gutenberg License included with this eBook or online at www.gutenberg.net

1.E.2. If an individual Project Gutenberg-tm electronic work is derived from the public domain (does not contain a notice indicating that it is posted with permission of the copyright holder), the work can be copied and distributed to anyone in the United States without paying any fees or charges. If you are redistributing or providing access to a work with the phrase "Project Gutenberg" associated with or appearing on the work, you must comply either with the requirements of paragraphs 1.E.1 through 1.E.7 or obtain permission for the use of the work and the Project Gutenberg-tm trademark as set forth in paragraphs 1.E.8 or 1.E.9.

1.E.3. If an individual Project Gutenberg-tm electronic work is posted with the permission of the copyright holder, your use and distribution must comply with both paragraphs 1.E.1 through 1.E.7 and any additional terms imposed by the copyright holder. Additional terms will be linked to the Project Gutenberg-tm License for all works posted with the permission of the copyright holder found at the beginning of this work.

1.E.4. Do not unlink or detach or remove the full Project Gutenberg-tm License terms from this work, or any files containing a part of this work or any other work associated with Project Gutenberg-tm.

1.E.5. Do not copy, display, perform, distribute or redistribute this electronic work, or any part of this electronic work, without prominently displaying the sentence set forth in paragraph 1.E.1 with active links or immediate access to the full terms of the Project Gutenberg-tm License.

1.E.6. You may convert to and distribute this work in any binary, compressed, marked up, nonproprietary or proprietary form, including any word processing or hypertext form. However, if you provide access to or distribute copies of a Project Gutenberg-tm work in a format other than "Plain Vanilla ASCII" or other format used in the official version posted on the official Project Gutenberg-tm web site (www.gutenberg.net), you must, at no additional cost, fee or expense to the user, provide a copy, a means of exporting a copy, or a means of obtaining a copy upon request, of the work in its original "Plain Vanilla ASCII" or other form. Any alternate format must include the full Project Gutenberg-tm License as specified in paragraph 1.E.1.

1.E.7. Do not charge a fee for access to, viewing, displaying, performing, copying or distributing any Project Gutenberg-tm works unless you comply with paragraph 1.E.8 or 1.E.9.

1.E.8. You may charge a reasonable fee for copies of or providing access to or distributing Project Gutenberg-tm electronic works provided that

- You pay a royalty fee of 20% of the gross profits you derive from the use of Project Gutenberg-tm works calculated using the method you already use to calculate your applicable taxes. The fee is owed to the owner of the Project Gutenberg-tm trademark, but he has agreed to donate royalties under this paragraph to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation. Royalty payments must be paid within 60 days following each date on which you prepare (or are legally required to prepare) your periodic tax returns. Royalty payments should be clearly marked as such and sent to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation at the address specified in Section 4, "Information about donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation."

- You provide a full refund of any money paid by a user who notifies

you in writing (or by e-mail) within 30 days of receipt that s/he does not agree to the terms of the full Project Gutenberg-tm License. You must require such a user to return or destroy all copies of the works possessed in a physical medium and discontinue all use of and all access to other copies of Project Gutenberg-tm works.

- You provide, in accordance with paragraph 1.F.3, a full refund of any money paid for a work or a replacement copy, if a defect in the electronic work is discovered and reported to you within 90 days of receipt of the work.

- You comply with all other terms of this agreement for free distribution of Project Gutenberg-tm works.

1.E.9. If you wish to charge a fee or distribute a Project Gutenberg-tm electronic work or group of works on different terms than are set forth in this agreement, you must obtain permission in writing from both the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation and Michael Hart, the owner of the Project Gutenberg-tm trademark. Contact the Foundation as set forth in Section 3 below.

1.F.

1.F.1. Project Gutenberg volunteers and employees expend considerable effort to identify, do copyright research on, transcribe and proofread public domain works in creating the Project Gutenberg-tm collection. Despite these efforts, Project Gutenberg-tm electronic works, and the medium on which they may be stored, may contain "Defects," such as, but not limited to, incomplete, inaccurate or corrupt data, transcription errors, a copyright or other intellectual property infringement, a defective or damaged disk or other medium, a computer virus, or computer codes that damage or cannot be read by your equipment.

1.F.2. LIMITED WARRANTY, DISCLAIMER OF DAMAGES - Except for the "Right of Replacement or Refund" described in paragraph 1.F.3, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, the owner of the Project Gutenberg-tm trademark, and any other party distributing a Project Gutenberg-tm electronic work under this agreement, disclaim all liability to you for damages, costs and expenses, including legal fees. YOU AGREE THAT YOU HAVE NO REMEDIES FOR NEGLIGENCE, STRICT LIABILITY, BREACH OF WARRANTY OR BREACH OF CONTRACT EXCEPT THOSE PROVIDED IN PARAGRAPH F3. YOU AGREE THAT THE FOUNDATION, THE TRADEMARK OWNER, AND ANY DISTRIBUTOR UNDER THIS AGREEMENT WILL NOT BE LIABLE TO YOU FOR ACTUAL, DIRECT, INDIRECT, CONSEQUENTIAL, PUNITIVE OR INCIDENTAL DAMAGES EVEN IF YOU GIVE NOTICE OF THE POSSIBILITY OF SUCH DAMAGE.

1.F.3. LIMITED RIGHT OF REPLACEMENT OR REFUND - If you discover a defect in this electronic work within 90 days of receiving it, you can receive a refund of the money (if any) you paid for it by sending a written explanation to the person you received the work from. If you received the work on a physical medium, you must return the medium with your written explanation. The person or entity that provided you with the defective work may elect to provide a replacement copy in lieu of a refund. If you received the work electronically, the person or entity providing it to you may choose to give you a second opportunity to receive the work electronically in lieu of a refund. If the second copy is also defective, you may demand a refund in writing without further opportunities to fix the problem.

1.F.4. Except for the limited right of replacement or refund set forth in paragraph 1.F.3, this work is provided to you 'AS-IS' WITH NO OTHER WARRANTIES OF ANY KIND, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR ANY PURPOSE.

1.F.5. Some states do not allow disclaimers of certain implied warranties or the exclusion or limitation of certain types of damages. If any disclaimer or limitation set forth in this agreement violates the law of the state applicable to this agreement, the agreement shall be interpreted to make the maximum disclaimer or limitation permitted by the applicable state law. The invalidity or unenforceability of any provision of this agreement shall not void the remaining provisions.

1.F.6. INDEMNITY - You agree to indemnify and hold the Foundation, the trademark owner, any agent or employee of the Foundation, anyone providing copies of Project Gutenberg-tm electronic works in accordance with this agreement, and any volunteers associated with the production, promotion and distribution of Project Gutenberg-tm electronic works, harmless from all liability, costs and expenses, including legal fees, that arise directly or indirectly from any of the following which you do or cause to occur: (a) distribution of this or any Project Gutenberg-tm work, (b) alteration, modification, or additions or deletions to any Project Gutenberg-tm work, and (c) any Defect you cause.

Section 2. Information about the Mission of Project Gutenberg-tm

Project Gutenberg-tm is synonymous with the free distribution of electronic works in formats readable by the widest variety of computers including obsolete, old, middle-aged and new computers. It exists because of the efforts of hundreds of volunteers and donations from people in all walks of life.

Volunteers and financial support to provide volunteers with the assistance they need, is critical to reaching Project Gutenberg-tm's goals and ensuring that the Project Gutenberg-tm collection will remain freely available for generations to come. In 2001, the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation was created to provide a secure and permanent future for Project Gutenberg-tm and future generations. To learn more about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation and how your efforts and donations can help, see Sections 3 and 4 and the Foundation web page at <http://www.pgla.org>.

Section 3. Information about the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

The Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation is a non profit 501(c)(3) educational corporation organized under the laws of the state of Mississippi and granted tax exempt status by the Internal Revenue Service. The Foundation's EIN or federal tax identification number is 64-6221541. Its 501(c)(3) letter is posted at <http://pglaf.org/fundraising>. Contributions to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation are tax deductible to the full extent permitted by U.S. federal laws and your state's laws.

The Foundation's principal office is located at 4557 Melan Dr. S. Fairbanks, AK, 99712., but its volunteers and employees are scattered throughout numerous locations. Its business office is located at 809 North 1500 West, Salt Lake City, UT 84116, (801) 596-1887, email business@pglaf.org. Email contact links and up to date contact information can be found at the Foundation's web site and official page at <http://pglaf.org>

Section 4. Information about Donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation

Project Gutenberg-tm depends upon and cannot survive without wide spread public support and donations to carry out its mission of increasing the number of public domain and licensed works that can be freely distributed in machine readable form accessible by the widest array of equipment including outdated equipment. Many small donations ($1 to $5,000) are particularly important to maintaining tax exempt status with the IRS.

The Foundation is committed to complying with the laws regulating charities and charitable donations in all 50 states of the United States. Compliance requirements are not uniform and it takes a considerable effort, much paperwork and many fees to meet and keep up with these requirements. We do not solicit donations in locations where we have not received written confirmation of compliance. To SEND DONATIONS or determine the status of compliance for any particular state visit <http://pglaf.org>

While we cannot and do not solicit contributions from states where we have not met the solicitation requirements, we know of no prohibition against accepting unsolicited donations from donors in such states who approach us with offers to donate.

International donations are gratefully accepted, but we cannot make any statements concerning tax treatment of donations received from outside the United States. U.S. laws alone swamp our small staff.

Please check the Project Gutenberg Web pages for current donation methods and addresses. Donations are accepted in a number of other ways including including checks, online payments and credit card donations. To donate, please visit: <http://pglaf.org/donate>

Section 5. General Information About Project Gutenberg-tm electronic works.

Professor Michael S. Hart is the originator of the Project Gutenberg-tm concept of a library of electronic works that could be freely shared with anyone. For thirty years, he produced and distributed Project Gutenberg-tm eBooks with only a loose network of volunteer support.

Project Gutenberg-tm eBooks are often created from several printed editions, all of which are confirmed as Public Domain in the U.S. unless a copyright notice is included. Thus, we do not necessarily keep eBooks in compliance with any particular paper edition.

Each eBook is in a subdirectory of the same number as the eBook's eBook number, often in several formats including plain vanilla ASCII, compressed (zipped), HTML and others.

Corrected EDITIONS of our eBooks replace the old file and take over the old filename and etext number. The replaced older file is renamed. VERSIONS based on separate sources are treated as new eBooks receiving new filenames and etext numbers.

Most people start at our Web site which has the main PG search facility:

<http://www.gutenberg.net>

This Web site includes information about Project Gutenberg-tm, including how to make donations to the Project Gutenberg Literary Archive Foundation, how to help produce our new eBooks, and how to subscribe to our email newsletter to hear about new eBooks.

EBooks posted prior to November 2003, with eBook numbers BELOW #10000, are filed in directories based on their release date. If you want to download any of these eBooks directly, rather than using the regular search system you may utilize the following addresses and just download by the etext year.

<http://www.gutenberg.net/etext06>

(Or /etext 05, 04, 03, 02, 01, 00, 99, 98, 97, 96, 95, 94, 93, 92, 91 or 90)

EBooks posted since November 2003, with etext numbers OVER #10000, are filed in a different way. The year of a release date is no longer part of the directory path. The path is based on the etext number (which is identical to the filename). The path to the file is made up of single digits corresponding to all but the last digit in the filename. For example an eBook of filename 10234 would be found at:

<http://www.gutenberg.net/1/0/2/3/10234>

or filename 24689 would be found at:

<http://www.gutenberg.net/2/4/6/8/24689>
